Honor youths who saved lives

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

Few, if any, achievements in life can top the ultimate achievements of saving a human life and two Granite City youths have been credited in 1982 with saving the lives of others and their efforts were recognized here Tuesday night.

Jeffrey Beasley, a high school freshman, man, was an eighth grader at Grigsby Junior High School last April when cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques taught to him in a two-week health class there saved a 12-month-old baby who had climbed into a tub of water and fallen face down, nearly drowning.

Beasley's achievement received front page publicity and earned him numerous awards. An equal achievement Nov. 5 by a senior at Granite City High School South went mostly unnoticed, until the Granite City Optimist Club gave Jeanette Narup the recognition she deserves, honoring her and Beasley during the club's annual Youth Appreciation Dinner Tuesday

Alderman retiring

Granite City Alderman Margaret Nott of the Fifth Ward has announced her intention not to seek re-election in the April 12, 1983, election. When she steps down next year, it will be the first time in 40 years a Nott will not be serving on the city council.

Widow of the late Alderman Walter Nott, she was first elected in 1977 to fill the two years remaining of the term of her late husband. She won a full four-year term in 1979. Mr. Nott had been an alderman for 34 years when he died.

Mrs. Nott, an employee at the Madison County Jail, cited both shift work hours creating a difficulty in attending council sessions and her age as factors in her decision not to run again.

"I'm 64. Let someone else have a chance," Mrs. Nott said.

Mrs. Nott was employed as a bailiff for the Madison County Circuit Court for 19 years before retiring from that position and accepting a post at the county jail in Edwardsville.

The petition filing period for her position, six other Granite City aldermanic seats, and the city's superintendent of streets office, will open for one week beginning Dec. 6, according to a City Clerk Robert W. Stevens.

Three Granite City Park District Commissioners also will be elected April 12.

City Council members whose whose terms expire in April, in addition to Mrs. Nott, are Aldermen Everett Morlen, First Ward; Sam Whitmer, Second Ward; Paul Fisk, Third Ward; Warren Decatur, Fourth Ward; Walter Milton, Sixth Ward; and Michael Modrusick, Seventh Ward.

Veteran Alderman Morlen and Whitmer said yesterday that they are undecided whether to seek re-election.

County officials get 18.5% raises

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Madison County Board voted 13-7 yesterday to give the county clerk, treasurer and sheriff salary increases of 18.5 percent, despite the somewhat emotional argument of James R. Heil, lame duck board member from Alton, and the heated discourse of H. Jack Frandsen of Alhambra.

Presently, the clerk, treasurer and sheriff earn $25,500 each and the increase will raise that sum to $31,252 the first year, with seven percent annual increases until 1984.

The three elected officials each will receive $33,440 the second year, $35,780 the third year and $38,285 the fourth year.

Frandsen spoke up first, arguing that the increase the first year is too high and should be reduced to 10 percent with seven percent increases thereafter. The first year reduction, he said, would allow salaries of $28,050 for the three elected officials in the first year.

"We have tremendous unemployment," he said and related the story of a man who owes only $7,000 on his home and has no job.

The man is about to lose his home and has children and a wife to support, stated. "The present facilities just aren't enough."

The Community Development fund has $100,000, which Echols says is earmarked for the senior citizen's center and the city also may receive a block grant of $73,000 from the state for the fund.

Venice Park Board Member Barbara Harrell, who was in the audience, said she feels the money could be put to better use. According to Mrs. Harrell, Venice streets or sewers could be improved. "The streets and sewers are in a financial crisis," she said. "That money could be used for some type of

Table funding plan for a Venice senior center

By PAT HAY LUTZ
For the Press-Record

The funding of a proposed community center for Venice senior citizens was discussed at a public hearing Tuesday night before the regular Venice City Council meeting. Approximately 20 persons, many senior citizens, attended the hearing to voice approval or disapproval of a proposed bill which would allow council members to use money from the Community Development fund to build a facility catering to the needs of the seniors.

According to Mayor Tyrone Echols, existing facilities are not adequate to serve those needs. "I think that our senior citizens deserve a center," he stated. "The present facilities just aren't enough."

The Community Development fund has $100,000, which Echols says is earmarked for the senior citizen's center and the city also may receive a block grant of $73,000 from the state for the fund.

Venice Park Board Member Barbara Harrell, who was in the audience, said she feels the money could be put to better use. According to Mrs. Harrell, Venice streets or sewers could be improved. "The streets and sewers are in a financial crisis," she said. "That money could be used for some type of

Seek indictment on 'bribe'

Armed by testimony from William Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner who has been granted immunity from prosecution, State's Attorney Don W. Weber this week said he will seek a grand jury indictment of James Barton, county assessment supervisor.

Weber says such a charge would allege that Barton passed along a $500 political gift to Walter "Shang" Greathouse, Metro-East Sanitary District president and Madison County Zoning Appeals Board member.

Nichols once sought rezoning of property where he hoped to create "borrow pits" and sell dirt for use in covering trash at a nearby landfill.

Nichols made a $1,000 political contribution this year through Barton, half going to the Cosentine secretary of state campaign and the other half going to several campaigns, including the Donnewald state treasurer race.

Both appointed officials, who are Granite Cityans, were discussed at yesterday's monthly County Board session at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

During the meeting, Greathouse was reappointed to his post with the sanitary district. The state's attorney has indicated Greathouse will not be targeted by the grand jury for prosecution.

Barton, with two years left in a four-year appointive term, was criticized Wednesday by William Haine. A County Board member, Haine in 1980 unsuccessfully sought the state's attorney nomination.

"As a member of this board, I believe the time has come to ask Jim Barton to resign from his duties as supervisor of assessments," Haine told the board.

"I say this because of his statements made to the press over the past four days about political gifts. We may have no right or power to remove him, but I think we should take a look at what he said.

"There is an effect on the assessment supervisor position when we have any hint of politics or favoritism or anything of that sort."

"The appearance of impropriety is as bad as an impropriety itself."

No one responded to Haine's comments on Barton.

Meanwhile, Greathouse attracted praise from both Haine and County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer.

Noting that Greathouse's Metro-East Sanitary District appointment was about to expire, Hagnauer told the board members, "I'm sure we've read with interest, in the newspapers, about what has been going on."

"Mr. Greathouse's Sanitary District term is up. If the appointment is not made today, we will lose the position. (Three commissioners are picked by Madison County and two by St. Clair County.)"

"Two years ago, the district was $1,200,000 in debt when Mr. Greathouse took over. Since then, the bonds have been paid off and there has been a big reduction in the number of employees."

"An investigation is pending. Normally, we would wait until it has been finished."

"I have been personally assured by Mr. Greathouse that he would resign if he became personally implicated. He denies all involvement."

"I have confidence in the man. I'm

Businesses confident after a bleak short-term outlook

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The short-term economic and employment outlook here? Tough, bleak, difficult. The longer-range picture? Considerable confidence, tempered by realization that some of the big staffs and production levels of past years may never return.

A "leaner, stronger, more capable" Granite City Steel Division and Quad-City area of the future were envisioned by Edward Sambuchi, GC Steel vice-president and general manager. He was one of six "business roundtable" panelists at the November prayer breakfast of Granite City Rotarians yesterday at Charlie's Restaurant.

Disastrous order dropoffs at several firms were described. While no immediate rebound is visible on the horizon, most of the speakers said they expect America and the Midwest to begin an economic upsurge in 1983, perhaps late in that year.

Drew Karandjeff, panel moderator, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank president, summarized the outlook as "not all bad," with the next few months likely to be poor for businesses and workers here and nationwide, but a new growth era beginning during 1983 and continuing for an indefinite time.

Other speakers were: William Aronson, Madison plant manager, Consolidated Aluminum Corp.; William P. Donovan, works manager, American Steel Foundries, Granite City; R.B. "Mike" Michaels, Norfolk Southern Corp. regional industrial development manager; Carl E. Mathias, Madison County service area manager of GOING UP FAST. The $5-million Town & Country Apartments project on Parkway Drive is proceeding "full steam ahead" despite protests a month ago over the lack of local hirings by the complex developer Schnabel Associates Inc., a Pennsylvania firm. The 121-unit development is to include seven 2-story units for families and a single 3-story building for senior citizen housing. Approximately 30 percent of the units will be set aside for tenants who qualify for federal Section 8 rent subsidies.

Bulletin

The Press-Record learned this morning that National Steel Corp. has suspended all work on the rebuilding of the "Coke Oven at Granite City Steel.

Company officials said this morning that they cannot comment on the action, other than to say a news release is being prepared, but is not likely to be released until next week.

National Steel's top executives are not in Pittsburgh and will not return until next week, so authorization of a press release before then is unlikely, a Granite City Steel spokesman said.

Robert McBride, executive vice-president of the steel group of National Steel Corp., and Ron Doerr, controller, are in Granite City, but the spokesman said they are here only to attend tonight's meeting of the Granite City Steel Management Club.

Late this morning, IMAGE (Involvement and Management Advancement Growth and Employment) announced that an IMAGE sign-off ceremony scheduled for 2 p.m. today has been cancelled. Officials there said they do not know why.

Illinois Power Co. and vice-chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency, and Ted Ellerman, executive vice-president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Portions of their comments follow:

"In January 1982, when I came here, two blast furnaces were producing 5,000 tons a day, and two basic oxygen furnaces and the new continuous caster were operating. There were 25 heats a day. There were 13 turns a week on the 80-inch hot strip mill and the blooming mill and finishing facilities were active.

"Now, one blast furnace is working at 90 percent of its capacity, or 42 percent of our overall blast furnace capacity. There are 11 heats a day out of a capacity of 25 to 26.

"The continuous caster is operating at 60 percent of its capacity; 70 percent of the steel made here now utilizes this caster. The blooming mill is operating only two turns instead of 14 a week—a costly situation because the soaking pits must be kept heated at all times.

"The 80-inch mill is operating for 10 to 11 turns every other week, remaining idle on alternate weeks.

"Operating and overhead costs are astronomical at this volume, and steel prices are being kept low to aid in obtaining the orders that are available. Our facility is likely to have an $87 million loss for 1982.

"The short-term outlook remains extremely bleak. We are employing 3,200 compared to the normal 4,400, and expect the total to be 3,000 at the end of 1982.

"Corporate and division plans call for finding of strategies, rather than projects. Certain projects may appear to be sound but they also must fit well with the other needs.

"We will emphasize responsiveness to markets we can serve profitably at competitive prices, instead of the previous policy of high production volume and low profit margins.

"At Granite City Steel, we are starting to emphasize participatory management, with open communications encouraging employees' input and providing information to all.

"We are basically optimistic. Increasingly, we will be emphasizing creativity and innovation," Sambuchi concluded.

Donovan—

"American Steel Foundries is the Number One producer of railroad casting products in the U.S. but has had to operate on a cyclical pattern here since 1905 due to rising and falling sales.

"Our production at the local plant rose from 45,000 tons in 1972 to 80,000 by 1974, 85,000 in 1975, 72,000 in 1976, 74,000 in 1977, 89,000 in 1978 and a record 98,000 in 1979 before dropping to 90,000 in 1980, 57,000 in 1981 and 27,000 in fiscal 1982 (ending Sept. 30).

"We are in our second indefinite plantwide layoff, trying to sell our products at 1979 prices while paying 1982 wages. We are being carried financially by our company.

"Of the 1,600,000 freight cars in the nation's fleet, 400,000 are unneeded and idle. This leaves no incentive to order more of them built, except for specialty cars. Yet, everyone is convinced that additional new railroad cars will be needed—and ordered—when the economy recovers.

"Total U.S. freight car production was 80,000 in 1978, 95,000 cars in 1979, 93,000 in 1980, 51,000 in 1981 and 22,000 in 1982, with 12,000 to 16,000 projected for the next year.

"All four major suppliers expanded their capacity when demand exceeded their production ability in the late 1970s and orders were being placed overseas.

"Our multi-million-dollar expansion in Granite City has given us one of the most modern bolsters producing molding lines in this country. But judging by orders, fiscal 1983 will be a disaster.

"Predictions are for big demand by 1987, and somewhere between 1983 and then we will be moving into full operation again.

"The long-range outlook is good. But, for the short range, times are tough," Donovan told the breakfast gathering.

Michels—

"Our purchase of the Illinois Terminal Railroad shows our confidence in the local area, where we serve Granite City Steel, the Tri-City Port District and others.

"We ship coal, autos, grain and chemicals over our 18,000 miles of track. We serve such areas as Florida, South Carolina, Virginia and Pennsylvania, extending north to Chicago and west to Omaha and Kansas City. We netted $500 million in 1982, number one among all railroads.

"We promote industrial development and we are actively recommending Illinois Power's Northgate Industrial Park, other utilities' plant sites here and our own property.

"We were among those who pushed for development of the Wentzville area. When General Motors chose that city for its new assembly plant, President Estes of GM said he did not need to know another thing about the site because we had supplied him with so much information.

"We see some decrease in our shipping volume in 1983, followed by an increase," Michels said.

Ellerman—

"Affiliated since 1921 with the Sisters of Divine Providence, SEMC has grown from 288 beds in 1988 to 481 now, with its annual budget rising from $6 million as recently as 1970 to $50 million in 1983.

"From 60 employees in 1968, we have stabilized at 1,240. Patient-days decreased 4 percent in 1981 and are down another 3½ percent in 1982.

"A period of growth in services and facilities began in 1965 with Medicare and the concept of universal access to health care. But half of present revenue is received through the state and federal governments, and it is falling to keep pace with necessary costs.

"Compared to our total, without-profit cost of $229 to maintain a patient, the state is providing $179 for public aid patients. And the portion of our patients on public aid has risen from 10 percent eight years ago to 22 percent of our total number of patients.

"We formed a holding company in 1980 and have a for-profit subsidiary, Providence Management and Marketing Services, which will return its earnings to help the medical center. It may generate $1 million by its third year.

"PMMS provides industrial medicine services for 80 clients, laboratory services related to blood chemistry, employee assistance programs for 12 clients, and dietary and food consultation for three school districts and several hospitals. A new industrial medicine facility will be opened next year on Lindbergh Road.

"We expect to move the chemical dependency unit to our tract of land on Route 157 in Edwardsville and will provide some services there and perhaps elsewhere, as feeders for our Granite City site, which is a $42 million asset.

"We are dedicated to this community and want to see its residents and industries grow and prosper in the years ahead. We hope for new industries, construction of more homes and progress on neighborhood restoration, including the area near our 21st Street and Madison Avenue site.

"Our yearly payroll totals $28 million, and 90 percent of the people live in the Quad-City area. We have become one of your biggest industries," Ellerman concluded.

Aronson—

"Wholly owned by AluSwiss since 1980, when Phelps-Dodge sold its 40 percent share, the Conoco plant—half in Madison and half in Venice—employs 400 at present compared to the usual 900.

"We process aluminum ingots into sheets, plates and extrusions for the aerospace and defense industries. And we process magnesium for shipment to a plant that makes luggage frames and water heater anodes.

"We are completing a $5 million expansion of our rolling facilities for 1983 testing and 1984 production. This will help us become established in the beer and beverage can market, making end stock for lids," Aronson related.

Mathias—

"We are selling electricity for the same price per kilowatt as 40 years ago. This may be a bit misleading, of course; people use much more power these days, and the bills are higher.

"When we were building fossil-fuel plants, our generating costs were $50 a kilowatt hour. This rose to $400 as new plants were built, and it will be $2,500 at our new atomic plant in Clinton.

"Government regulations have greatly increased our construction costs. And the cost of borrowing large sums of money for our construction program also has become a problem that will tend to continue forcing rate increases.

"With Clinton, we will still be able to sell power 18 percent cheaper than if we had built a fossil-fuel plant meeting all government requirements.

"Natural gas costs also are escalating after being held artificially low for many years. I expect gas for heating ultimately to cost slightly more than oil. This undoubtedly would prompt some residential and industrial users to reconsider their fuel sources.

"We continue to push for energy conservation by our customers and have trained large numbers of people for this. In the late 1960s and early 1970s, we experienced 7 percent annual growth in fuel demand, but we are projecting growth of only 1½ to 2 percent annually over the next ten years.

"Our capacity is somewhat above the demand. But if even one of our generating plants went out of service, we would have to borrow electricity from other utilities to serve our customers.

"We have cut our staff by 10 percent in recent months, and see no increase in our employment soon.

"We have one tenant in our Highway Three industrial park, which we think offers the best sites anywhere in the state of Illinois or the St. Louis metropolitan area. We hope for additional tenants in the near future."

Mathias concluded, "We foresee another period of growth, and accept the challenges that it will create."

During a brief question period, Mathias said future years are likely to spotlight service industries and high technology, rather than labor-intensive industries like auto and steel plants.

He said there is a significant need for additional jobs, and that it is up to local citizens and leaders to foster the kind of cooperation that can enhance this community's attractiveness.

Sambuchi agreed that many aspects of manufacturing will change in terms of the methods and objectives.

Governmental officials introduced were State Senator Sam Vaden, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Louis Frick.

Honor students aid

National Honor Society members from both Granite City High School North and South will assist the 1982 Tri-Cities Area United Way Campaign tomorrow and Saturday.

Sixty National Honor Society students will be soliciting funds from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. tomorrow and from 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturday at local businesses and banks.

"These funds are very much needed for the 15 member agencies during 1983," said Shirley Adams, group vice chairman for private donors.

"The generosity of our high school students to give of their time for such a worthwhile cause is a splendid example of the teenagers we have in our community. It was their idea. They wanted to do something extra, due to the economic condition we are facing in this community," she said.

The United Way campaign goal this year was lowered because of economic conditions to $25,000.

Coordinating the two-day event will be Linda Schermer, Tri-Cities Area United Way "Bitz" chairman for the 1982 campaign, and sponsors from Granite City High Schools North and South.

The sponsors include from North, Teresa Johnson and Judy Yurko, and from South, Mary Perdue-Tapp and Helen Vold.

Honor Society students organizing the drive from North are: Michelle Loftus, president; Leslie Voyles, vice president; Carolyn Horbelt, treasurer, and Lori Halbert, project chairman, and from South: Randy Dett, president; Chris Kessner, vice president; Nancy Jones, treasurer, and Bruce Holt.

Santa will ride 'copter to Madison

Santa Claus traditionally rides in an aerial sleigh pulled by reindeer but he has chosen a helicopter for the final leg of his journey to Madison next week.

The jolly figure of Christmas cheer and folklore is scheduled to arrive aboard a helicopter at 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 27, the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

The copter will descend onto the drive-in area of the First National Bank in Madison, Sixth Street and Madison Avenue.

His visit has been arranged by the Madison Business Association, Mrs. Margaret Lee said. Santa will greet youngsters assembled for his visit and will give out candy canes to the children.

Seek indictments

asking you people to have confidence in me."

"I have met with the state's attorney about this," Hagnauer concluded. Haine said, "Based on Mr. Greathouse's record with the Sanitary District—reducing its taxes and cutting out waste of tax money—and based on his statement that he would resign, all of these reasons demand action and approval now."

The board unanimously concurred in the reappointment.

The resolution that was enacted specified a new five-year term as a Sanitary District commissioner. Routine procedures call for him to post a $10,000 security bond.

Weber reports the request for grand jury action will be made today, and that the proposed charge against Barton is conspiracy to commit bribery.

Both Barton and Greathouse have said all of their actions were entirely proper.

The state's attorney relates that Nichols testified he paid money in the hope that Greathouse would approve his rezoning request. (The request was rejected unanimously by the appeals board and overwhelmingly by the County Board.)

Weber said both appointees have been subpoenaed to testify today, and that he then will ask jurors to vote on an indictment against Barton. A conspiracy charge is a felony.

Whether to indict is a decision made by the jury itself, but grand jurors often follow the advice of the prosecutor who meets with them.

Illinois statutes ban offering money to a public official to influence his vote on a public matter. Also banned is an official's acceptance of money that was intended to influence his vote.

Barton says Nichols asked that he forward half of the $1,000 to Greathouse and that Nichols consistently described the money as a non-returnable political contribution without strings attached. When he got $500 back from Greathouse and Nichols would not accept it, Barton sent a $500 check to the Cosentino campaign, he said last week while displaying a copy of the check.

Greathouse has been quoted as saying Barton offered him the money during the summer while they were seated in Greathouse's auto in Granite City. Barton told him it had come from Nichols and was for political contributions.

The MESD president said he wanted no involvement in such contributions from Nichols.

Greathouse recalls pushing the money away about five times before Barton left it on the car seat and got out of the vehicle. Greathouse went to Barton's home the next day and gave him the $500.

Greathouse says it would be dumb for him to participate in passing along such contributions and that "I've been around long enough" to know better than to become involved. He acknowledges buying tickets to political fund-raising events and selling tickets to acquaintances.

Nichols has declined to discuss the gift publicly, having been told by Weber's staff to avoid comment.

A Nov. 4 judicial order is said to have been issued, granting Nichols immunity and instructing him to testify or face jail for contempt of court. The testimony followed.

Weber in 1981 urged the County Board to dismiss Barton, contending that property valuations had been decreased for officials, politicians and friends of Barton. A grand jury found insufficient evidence to issue charges against Barton in regard to assessments.

The prosecutor says Barton never was cleared of impropriety despite the finding of insufficient evidence.

But Weber says that the earlier episode has had no bearing on his decision to seek indictment of Barton on handling of Nichols' political donation.

"This is not a vendetta, or politics," the prosecutor insists.

Greathouse says MESD has been generally receptive to Nichols' wish to bridge a canal separating his land from a disposal site, but that a precedent set two years ago undoubtedly doomed Nichols' request for a special use permit. The permit would have increased the amount of dirt that could be transferred.

A former owner unsuccessfully tried for rezoning, and Greathouse says he has consistently declared there was "no way" a new rezoning effort could succeed. He cites objections from owners of nearby property.

Barton says Nichols told him of plans to go to the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation. Barton interpreted this statement as an effort to increase pressure on zoning officials to reconsider the permit request.

Greathouse has viewed the investigation as an attempt to block his reappointment to the Sanitary District board. He points out that he has angered many people in trimming the MESD payroll from 140 to 40 and in working to get the district out of debt.

night at St. Peter's Church in Granite City.

Optimist G.H. Sternberg gave glowing accounts of the live-saving efforts of the two young people before presenting them with framed copies of the Optimist Creed as reminders of the evening.

Sternberg said that Niss Narup was babysitting with the two small children of the Rev. and Mrs. James Brown of St. Peter's Church Nov. 5 when Rev. Brown's mother, who had been injured in a serious auto accident last Thanksgiving, called for help.

The woman, who has been unable to walk since the accident which killed her husband and severely injured her, said she was having difficulty breathing. Miss Narup called for an ambulance and returned to find Rev. Brown's mother had ceased breathing. She immediately initiated CPR until help could arrive.

Rev. Brown arrived and took over the CPR until a city rescue truck arrived and the professionals went to work.

Jeannette Narup was honored Tuesday night. Rev. Brown's mother was released from the hospital and returned home yesterday.

Sternberg noted that Beasley was trying to cope with his first babysitting job and was diapering infant William Warner on the bathroom floor when the other children called for his help. Beasley left the baby on the bathroom floor and ran to see what the other children needed.

When he returned to the bathroom, he found that the baby had somehow crawled into the bathtub and was lying face down in a small amount of water. The baby was not breathing and had turned blue.

Beasley immediately began CPR and called for an ambulance. By the time rescuers arrived, the CPR had done its intended job. The baby's eyelids were fluttering and he was gasping for breath.

"A doctor at Cardinal Glennon Hospital told him that the child was alive because of him," Sternberg told the audience.

Both young heroes received loud applause from those present at the dinner.

The Optimists also honored three youth organizations at the dinner — Boy Scout Troop Three, the Granite City Optimist Club's soccer team and the Southern Express Swing Choir of Granite City High School South.

All three groups are "examples of the positive contribution youth is making toward our community," Optimist President Jack Lee noted.

The Swing Choir, under the direction of South vocal department instructor Mary Ann Bright, performed a short segment of its program of song and dance.

The annual Youth Appreciation Dinner of the Granite City Optimist Club is a part of the National Youth Appreciation Week observance of Optimist International, which uses the slogan, "A friend of youth."

County changes employee policies

The Madison County board yesterday approved a flexible funding health insurance plan with Trans-America Occidental Life for county employees.

The county previously was insured by Blue Cross, Blue Shield. The newly-adopted program is equal to the former policy and also includes a $5,000 life insurance policy with a rate of $99.48 per employee per month, which is $6 to $13 less than the Blue Cross renewal rate.

In other action, the board approved the continuation of the Madison County Metro-East Transit District. William R. Haine (D-Alton), who submitted the resolution, noted that 60 percent of the riders on Madison County transit routes are making work trips.

Had the proposal failed, the county could have lost all federal, state and local funds to develop and maintain a transit system, Haine said. Approval also was given by the board for an increase in the resident charge at both the county nursing and shelter care homes. A monthly charge of $725 was approved at the shelter home and a charge of $1,025 at the nursing home, effective Jan. 1, 1983. The increase amounts to $100 per month per patient at each home.

The board also amended the county head shop ordinance, clarifying the language of the previous ordinance.

Schools' lunch program is nearly self-supporting

The Granite City school system's student lunch program has been placed on nearly a self-sustaining financial basis, reports to board members showed this week.

Food Director Michael Kanak said new calculations of government reimbursements have shown total cafeteria receipts of $164,564 in August-September, with costs amounting to $168,416, and October income of $130,071 and expenses of $123,202.

school year, compared to August-October 1981, total $154,313, Kanak said.

A November food purchasing report also was received by the board. Some items are being obtained through monthly competitive bidding.

Kanak commented, "School food programs are not permitted to make a profit."

"Indirect expenses, such as electricity and gas, are considered in a state-assigned rate of 20.59 percent which may be applied to labor, fringe benefits, depreciation and other costs.

"When this is taken into account, our program is not making a true profit. Our total payroll costs include municipal retirement, Social Security, workmen's compensation and health benefits."

In some past school years, the district reimbursed the food program by more than a half-million dollars annually.

In other School Board business, an illness leave of absence was extended from Dec. 1 to next June 1 for Joseph Hordesky, a South High custodian, and a resignation was accepted from Mary Hamilton, one of the district's honorably dismissed teachers.

Student attendance leaders in October were North High, 96 percent, and the Prohardt, Parkview and Nameoki elementary schools, 97 percent. The overall average was 94.92 percent.

District Nine enrollment currently totals 9,640.

FINED FOR BATTERY

Craig Thomas, 17, of 4801 Melrose Ave. was arrested for battery last week after allegedly wielding a knife and throwing a woman against a refrigerator at a home in the 2600 block of Madison Avenue. He was fined at a court hearing.

BURGLARY AT TAVERN

A burglar who forced open a door of the El Gato Tavern, 1800 Delmar Ave., last week took unknown amounts of coins from a jukebox and from a video game. The intruder also stole six cans of beer and $28 in currency and change.

CRASH, DRUG ARREST

A charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol was filed last week against Michael F. Ritchie, 33, Bartlesville, Ill., after his northbound car hit the parked auto of Robert Schildman, 2140 Benton St., near the latter address.

Local area can adapt, prosper

There is an admittedly bleak short-term outlook, but also confidence in the Quad-City area's long-range prospects, the panelists agreed at a discussion here Wednesday.

Although their comments dealt with local conditions, it was clear that most economic problems here stem from the national recession. Our nation's problems are severe, and the severity itself seems sure to focus extensive attention on them and on possible solutions.

Even billion-dollar companies fear they will go bankrupt if 1983 is as bad as 1982 sales and production volume, the Wall Street Journal said yesterday. The same day, the Federal Reserve Board reported only 88 percent of factories' capacity is in use nationwide.

The panelists see no signs of a turn-around as yet, and this is echoed by the Illinois Job Service, which expects double-digit unemployment to continue during the winter throughout Southern Illinois. Some business leaders predict an economic upswing in late 1983 but are unable to cite substantive evidence that it is on the way.

Mid-America seems particularly hard hit. With numerous plants idle, the term "rust bowl" is being coined, reminiscent of the "dust bowl" that plagued Great Plains farms in the depression-beast 1930s.

Wall Streeters say, "Although the overall recession so far seems just a bit worse than the average for post-war downturns, it has clobbered Smoketack America and apparently has wiped out forever thousands of high-paying jobs in the steel, auto and machinery industries."

At fault are a combination of the recession, high interest rates, increased import competition, and a switch in consumer taste "from auto tailfins to home computers." An economist warns, "Even if we do recover modestly next year, the problems of low profits, high unemployment and plant closings won't be resolved quickly."

The Granite City discussion showed financial losses at several plants, some of which are being "carried" by their parent companies in expectation of better times ahead. Certainly, there will be a greater demand for local goods and services than their current order books reflect.

In the meantime, it is essential that all of us cooperate during families' and corporations' "survival test" to make sure that the anticipated brighter day does dawn, and in the Quad-City area.

A leaner, more flexible community and industrial center may result. It may not be Utopia, but it will realistically mirror America's mid-'80s product needs and interests.

Time to stimulate employment

The stock market recently reached a 15-month high on the same day that the percentage of working Americans reached a 40-year low. By these indicators, the stockbrokers are making money but the unemployed are more numerous than at any time since the Great Depression.

Supply-side economic theory so far hasn't accomplished much to relieve the fever, the headache and the other painful after effects of the big-spending economies which preceded it.

One in 10 Americans is now out of work. We are squandering our greatest resource, our working people, and no flush on Wall Street can long dispel the gloom if unemployment is not reduced in this country.

Politicians heap the blame for this sorry state on each other. But the plain truth is that there is a circle of economic realities which, so far, have made improvement of one sector dependent on the worsening of another.

The clearest example is the relationship between inflation and unemployment. For the past three years, the Federal Reserve Board, a semi-autonomous government institution, has restricted the money supply and kept interest rates high. This knocked down inflation but raised unemployment. The stock market is also directly influenced by interest rates. Whenever interest rates go down, the Dow Jones average goes up.

The economy resembles a circle made of seesaws. Each time one factor goes up or down, all the rest of the seesaws rise or fall. No one knows how to keep them all up at the same time.

Paul A. Volcker, Federal Reserve chairman, a man with perhaps more power over the economy than the president, has decided, for the time being, that the momentum of inflation has been broken. He has changed policy to lower interest rates. This is a necessary step. It will stimulate jobs and investment and ease the international debt crisis.

Until someone reinvents the wheel of economic factors, millions of Americans must hold onto the teeter-totter for dear life. Now is the time to push down interest rates and raise employment.

Government hindering housing?

The unraveling of the American dream, a home for every family, is changing lifestyles for many and forcing young families to adjust their goals.

The only way many couples can buy a house is for the wife to go to work, forcing the children, if any, into day-care centers.

These affected generally blame their predicament on forces beyond control — inflation, high interest rates, high building costs, unavailability of land, etc.

But are these the real villains in our modern dilemma? Or is there some other factor at work, some unsuspected force in our society?

A new book assembled by 15 experts, mostly economists, "Resolving the Housing Crisis," contends the real villains in the dream-becoming-a-nightmare are the very public officials who are now crying for resolutions to a predicament they, themselves, have created.

The experts cite necessary controls over the land and useless building codes as the real culprits pulling the trigger.

The report demonstrates how attempts to control growth can raise costs:

"Such as the preservation of inefficiently large amounts of agricultural land, the specifications of large minimum lot sizes, the declaration and maintenance of moratoriums on new connections to public utility systems, the establishment of explicit quotas for the number of new building permits to be issued each year, the imposition of requirements for environmental impact reviews, and the filing of environmental lawsuits."

And what about building codes? "Innovation is stymied while codes are made increasingly rigorous and costly. Codes have been subverted by special interest groups to increase the demand for their products and services and defeat the competition they must face. In fact, there is no body of evidence available that demonstrates building codes add to health and safety in any way."

Listen to what the experts have to say about fiscal policies and deficit spending:

"They have 'led to high rates of interest and high rates of interest lead to low — even negative — rates of real economic growth. Burdensome taxes that penalize savings and capital formation do the same.'"

We have heard unnecessary building codes blamed before, along with misdirected efforts to preserve the land. That such a knowledgeable body has arrived at the same conclusions, however, should give the nay-sayers reason to take a second look at these arguments.

Members of the Press-Record editorial staff interviewed Quad-Cityans and asked: Do you think that limiting foreign steel imports would have a significant effect on the local economy?

Rosemary Kell, Granite City
"Why sure it would. If we have our own steel here, we'd have our people working more. That we need."

Beulah Williams, Madison
"Yes, I think so. They have steel they could use in the U.S. It would help unemployment."

Nancy Barnhart, Granite City
"Yes, I do. If we quit importing steel, they'd use ours here. I think it (employment) would pick up immediately. They could put our fellas back to work at American Steel. Look how many steel mills are closed down here."

Marvin Kessler, Granite City
"Yeah, I do. It would give us more work here. Same as with the automobiles (imports)."

Vandals could not dim pride of champions

To the Editor:

When the GCHS South Soccer Warriors returned home from their almost-annual state championship tournament, the "usual sights" were observed as the team came into view. The Confederate Flag was flying high. The soccer flag held equal pride.

There were hundreds of fans to greet the great, accompanied by newspaper reporters and television cameramen. It was a genuine down south homecoming welcome for the best in the state. These were the "usual sights."

The Warriors, escorted by a motorcycle, took their traditional victory lap around their school and sports complex. As they passed their soccer field, a most "unusual sight" appeared.

The long-awaited scorekeepers' stand, which was completed for soccer season '82, was destroyed. The Warrior kickboard, completed for soccer season '82, and depicting the prestigious "Tournament of Champions," also was destroyed.

The creation and implementation of this wave of destruction was well planned, the timing was quite appropriate and, for this, credit is due — the vandals accomplished a goal.

The creation and implementation of the state champions also was well planned. The timing was quite appropriate and, for this, credit is due — the Warriors accomplished a goal ... or two ... or three.

As they stepped from the bus dressed in coats and ties, the team shined — their eyes, their happy faces and their gold medals. They raised their trophy for all to see.

This is a unique group of young men, coached and influenced by a unique man. Within this group breeds friendship, respect, understanding, love, and strength of mind and body.

"Material objects may be destroyed but can be replaced. Dignity, pride, respect and success can never be destroyed, only strengthened by weaker forces."

IRS needs volunteer aides

To the Editor:

Volunteers are needed to help others with tax returns as part of VITA, the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. VITA programs can be sponsored by local civic or fraternal organizations, educational institutions, churches and social groups. These groups help to set up VITA sites and provide volunteers.

VITA volunteers also assist low income, elderly, handicapped or non-English speaking taxpayers. They give explanations of the special credits and deductions for which certain taxpayers may qualify.

Persons or organizations interested in the VITA program, are urged to call the IRS phone number listed in the directory.

Following the tidal wave that inundated the Grand Old Party and swept Franklin D. Roosevelt into the White House, carrying a legion of wet Democrats into Congress in his wake, advocates of prohibition repeal have taken a new lease on life. Hitherto content to await action by the new Congress, optimistic wets are now determined not to await the advent of 1933, but to fight tooth and nail for beer before Christmas. The movement for immediate repeal is gaining momentum in the national capital with every tick of the clock as new Congressional voices are making themselves heard in favor of repeal and a forceful drive is expected at the coming short session of Congress.

Menard Project graduates 59

Belleville Area College graduated a record number from the college's Menard Project last week.

Fifteen residents of the Menard Correctional Center near Chester were awarded associate degrees and 44 certificates of proficiency in graduation exercises.

Dr. Robert Eskridge, dean of career education courses, addressed the graduates. "Most of you who have earned certificates and degrees have done so with honors or high honors," Eskridge said. "That's a credit to the determination of our Menard students."

Three associate of arts degrees, one associate of science and 11 associate of applied science degrees were awarded. One student received both arts and science degrees; he earned an applied science degree last year.

The new graduates commented on their achievement following the ceremony.

"If you've got this degree you've got more than the average guy in the field," said a graduate of the Air Conditioning, Heating and Refrigeration program. "This will help get me in the door."

He enrolled in the BAC program to fill time, he said. "I was available and I had some time to do," he said. "I'm 34 and the chances of going to school again were pretty nil."

Another graduate agreed that he enrolled in the BAC program to pass his time. "I believe it is incumbent upon any incarcerated person to get the skills needed to go back into society," he said. "I want to be well equipped when I get back out there." He received a degree in electronic communications. A graduate of the Welding Technology program said he became involved with the BAC program because he always had wanted to finish school. "I would like to teach grade school," he said.

He and several of the other graduates said earning their degrees did not mean the end of their studies. Several already have begun courses offered at the center by Southern Illinois University. One student commented, "I plan to get every degree available."

Nine vocational programs are offered through BAC's Menard Project in addition to general education courses required for associate of arts and science degrees.

Those programs include air conditioning, heating and refrigeration; building maintenance; short order cook; drafting technology; construction management technology; welding technology; electronics technology; appliance repair and office machine repair.

Since the beginning of the program eight years ago, 50 associate degrees and 761 certificates of proficiency have been awarded. The first graduation ceremony was in 1977.

George McArdle is director of education for the project. Speaking to the graduates, he said, "Gentlemen, this is a great day. They can't take this away."

South-Western joins Toys for Tots drive

South-Western Cable TV will be participating in this year's Toys for Tots program.

"We urge everyone to be a good Santa and help South-Western spread Christmas joy by donating new, unwrapped toys to 'Toys for Tots,'" sponsored by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve and local business," said Keith Cripps, South-Western's vice president and general manager. Last year, "Toys for Tots" provided nearly four million toys for needy children.

"This year the need is even greater," according to Cripps. To encourage donations of toys, South-Western will match every toy valued at $5 or more donated by a non-cable subscriber, who will receive free installation of cable TV service. The promotion will run from Nov. 22 through Dec. 17.

For convenience, all South-Western customer offices will serve as collection points for toys donated or toys may be picked up by the installer. "Toys should be new and gift wrapped to make distribution easier," Cripps noted. "All toys collected by South-Western will be distributed to agencies serving the Metro-East South-Western TV areas. We hope to bring the magic of Christmas to some very deserving children in St. Clair counties," Mr. Cripps concluded.

Suspend testing due to holiday

The Belleville Area College math and English placement tests will not be given during the evening session Wednesday, Nov. 24, because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

The test is administered every Wednesday school is in session from 1 to 3 p.m. and from 6 to 9 p.m. in room 1040 at the main campus, 2900 Carlyle Road, Belleville. The math test, which is given first, lasts about an hour. The two-hour English test follows. The results of the tests are used for advisement and placement. For more information, interested students may call 235-2700, extension 368.

Audit shows Venice schools overspent their budgets

By PATHAY LUTZ for the Press-Record

An audit of the budget of Venice School District 3 indicates an excess of expenditures in the educational fund and bond and interest funds.

Presented to the Venice School Board members on Monday, the audit shows that expenditures of $1,807,314 exceeded the budget amount of $1,704,466 in the educational fund, and the expenditure of $32,359 exceeded the budget amount of $32,275 in the bond and interest fund.

Spending in the operations, building, and maintenance funds and the transportation fund were within the budgetary allotment.

Interest on tax anticipation warrants issued in the fiscal year 1981-82 totaled $10,355. Warrants of $144,000 for the educational fund and $16,000 for the building, operations and maintenance funds were fully paid by the end of the year with revenue generated by the collection of property taxes.

The audit also indicated that the educational cost per student has risen from $2,281 in 1978 to $3,093 in 1982 while attendance has declined from 486 to 416 students.

In other business, board members accepted two resignations from faculty members. Fourth grade teacher Helen Purkale listed her reason for resignation as retirement and school nurse Doris McFain indicated that her resignation was necessary because she received an "unreasonably low salary." Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers admitted that the salary is less than that paid to nurses in a hospital, but suggested that the difference is justified.

"This nursing position cannot be compared to a nursing job in the hospital because our school nurse does not have the responsibility or workload that those nurses have," Vickers said.

"Our nurse works eight hours a day for nine months while a hospital nurse works eight hours a day for 12 months," he added. Mrs. McFain worked for the school district for approximately eight years and Mrs. Purkale was employed for 19 years.

SUE THANKSGIVING BREAK NEXT WEEK

Students attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will observe the annual Thanksgiving break, Nov. 22-27.

Offices will remain open during the work week, except on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 25 and 26.

For specific information about activities and building closings, interested persons may contact the University Information Center at 1-692-2739. Normal campus operations will resume Monday, Nov. 29.

Mrs. Eftimoff addresses convention on the gifted

Anita Eftimoff, special education resource teacher at Johnson and Nameski schools, spoke at the 29th annual National Association for Gifted Children Convention in New Orleans. The four-day meeting was attended by more than 1,500 educators and researchers representing all 50 states and 11 foreign countries.

Keynote speakers included Jackie Parker, astronaut, Josh Logan, author and playwright, and Dr. Klaus Urban from the World Council for Gifted and Talented Children.

The theme of this year's conference was "Growing Up Gifted" and Mrs. Eftimoff's presentation centered on adult perceptions of giftedness and how adults react to gifted children. Mrs. Eftimoff urged early identification and special programming for these children in order to help them reach greater levels of achievement and to prevent their lack of interest and participation in academics.

The National Association for Gifted Children is the largest organization in the country involved in promoting gifted education. The membership is open to both educators and parents. Mrs. Sally Sowell, former director of gifted education for the Granite City school system, currently is the national treasurer for the organization.

County board approves budget $2 million lower than last year

By NANCY WEIL
The Madison County Board yesterday approved a total budget of $39,701,393 for fiscal year 1983-84 beginning Dec. 1, with a general fund budget of $12,172,023, down nearly $2 million from last year.

The budget of every general fund department was cut 18 percent, based upon priority rankings of board members.

The finance committee had warned board members that such a decrease in the general fund was necessary because of declining county revenues. A total of $600,000 also was added to the reserve, bringing it to $1 million in case of emergency.

The budget that was passed Nov. 11 was amended by the board because county voters approved referendums to establish a special tax revenue fund for the operations of the county nursing and shelter care homes. The board eliminated the subsidy from the general fund for the homes, which released $197,294. That sum was allocated yesterday to five departments.

"The budget is the most difficult that the finance committee has prepared; however, the resulting product is positive. It is the first budget prepared within the last several years that equates revenues with expenditures and is, therefore, totally balanced. This balancing means that the county is operating within its income in a fiscally sound fashion," said William Little, chairman of the finance committee, before discussion of the proposed budget began.

While the sheriff's department budget was amended to receive $50,000, a request also was approved by the board transferring $85,000 from a vehicle fund to the personnel fund in that office.

The sheriff's department last Thursday issued layoff notices to 17 employees, but the total was decreased to 15 this week when it became apparent that part of the money formerly earmarked for the nursing and shelter care homes would be available to the sheriff's office. The additional $85,000 will reduce the layoff total to 10.

The budget for that department now is $2,183,643 which does not include the transfer funds.

Although State's Attorney Don Weber previously argued to the finance committee that his office needed at least $35,000 more than what it was allocated, he will have to settle for an increase of $20,000. The allocation gives that department a budget of $339,655.

The circuit court budget was increased $40,000 for a total of $484,403. The public defender's budget was amended from $123,737 to $136,727 and data processing received an additional $23,294, for a total of $393,635. The fund balance was given $50,000 which the finance committee said is essential to keep a minimum operating level.

The committee also had recommended that the circuit clerk and delinquent tax budgets be combined, but the board voted 15-7 to transfer $17,440 from the clerk's budget to re-establish a separate delinquent tax fund. An additional $3,000 was approved from the general reserve for the delinquent tax budget.

Richard Peck, board member from Collinsville, said that he spoke with Evelyn Bowles, county clerk, and he believed that combining the funds would place "hardship" on her office.

Some opposition was voiced by board members about the $3,000, but Marshall "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney, said, "Go ahead and spend the money like you have $3,000." He argued that the money would be raised from an already-established tax on mobile homes in the county.

The transfer from the clerk's budget left that office with $472,256 for 1983, down from $336,700 last year.

Educational services also was allocated an additional $8,000 after Miss Bowles read the board a letter from Harold "Gene" Briggs, county school superintendent.

While conceding that he believes Briggs has done a good job, Alan J. Dunsten, board member from Troy, argued that "I think we've got to stop hitting this contingency fund." He then told the board that money could be allocated to educational services later, if an emergency arises.

County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields then told the board that none of the $259,000 in the contingency fund had been spent. The board voted 11-9 to increase the educational services budget to $188,518.

County revenue for 1983 is expected to be $11,004,880. Federal revenue sharing is $914,000 and grants total $209,373.

In other budget action, the board denied a request on an 8-12 vote from William R. Haine, board member from Alton, to allow $40,000 to cover security costs at the county detention home. Haine had proposed that the money be taken from the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund.

but Morlen said he will probably be a candidate. Morlen has served on the council for 13 years and is chairman of the aldermanic police committee. Whitmer has been a member of the council for 27 years and has been active as chairman of the city's ambulance committee.

Aldermen Decatur, Mudrusic and Milton have all affirmed their candidacy for next year's election. Decatur, an unsuccessful mayoral candidate in 1980, was first elected an alderman for the Fourth Ward in 1976 and was a Granite City fire and police commissioner from 1969 to 1973.

Mudrusic, first elected to the council in 1979, is chairman of the planning and zoning committee.

Milton, chairman of the finance committee, was appointed to the council in January to fill the vacancy left when former Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell left for a similar post in Missouri and Alderman Mac Warfield accepted that post. Milton was formerly a Granite City Park District Commissioner.

Fisk was on vacation this week and could not be reached for comment. Streets Superintendent Warfield said he will seek his first election to the post, which now fills by appointment. Warfield ran unsuccessfully for that office against Portell in 1975. Warfield's father, William, served for several years as streets superintendent.

Aldermanic petitions may be picked up at the city clerk's office, 2000 Edison Ave., between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. The filing period for petitions will open at 8 a.m. on Dec. 6 and will close 5 p.m. on Dec. 13.

Alderman retiring

Charles Hynes was absent.

Mayor Echols contended that tabling the issue was unreasonable. "We know what the members of this community want," he said. "You will have to answer to your constituents on this."

Alderman Daniels said that tabling the issue was necessary to give everyone a chance to attend the hearing. "I have canvassed my ward and there are many people in opposition to the center," he said. "I just think that we have to notify people well in advance of a public hearing before we make a final decision."

Another public hearing on the issue will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 30, before the regular city council meeting.

In other actions during the regular meeting, council members voted to purchase two police cars from Dave Croft Chrysler-Dodge of Collinsville for $15,638. The two 1982 Dodge Diplomats will be delivered to the city within two weeks.

In a report to the council, Christmas Decorations Committee Chairman Gertrude Young indicated that a plaque with the names of citizens who have donated $100 for the decorations will be unveiled in a ceremony at 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 26. According to Mrs. Young, the committee still needs approximately $800 for wiring for the decorations, but the committee will attempt to turn on the decorative lights at the ceremony.

"We still need that money," she said, adding, "I don't know anything about wiring, but I do know how to raise cash to get money."

six years. I talked mightily to get another $40 per month (for board members). I was told it was not there," he said.

Heil went on to argue that if money is not available to give board members increases, that funds could possibly exist to give raises to the clerk, treasurer and sheriff.

"A lot of people have to sacrifice. As a lame duck, a member of this board and a citizen of Madison County, I cannot vote for the pay increases. We cannot afford this kind of quantum leap," he said.

Heil concluded that 10 percent the first year and seven percent the second year is more than many wage earners in the county make.

Fire department, EMTs merger to be discussed

The Granite City Council agreed Tuesday with a recommendation to hire Robert Mink, emergency medical technician (EMT), as a city fireman. But one alderman used the occasion to suggest the two departments be merged.

The hiring recommendation came from the Fire and Police Board of Commissioners, which tests and screens candidates. The appointment was submitted to fill the vacancy due to the retirement of firefighter Gregory Becker effective the day of the council session. Alderman Jake Varadian, Fifth Ward, asked the council to consider merging the employees and duties of the ambulance and fire departments, prior to next year's contract negotiations. The alderman had at first suggested a motion that would have required that all future firemen be certified EMTs.

Mayor Paul Schuler said that most of the firemen have already taken the emergency training necessary for EMTs. He told Varadian his motion would be given prior consideration before the council could approve his plan.

According to Varadian, it is "very expensive" for the city to operate the two separate departments. The mayor and other aldermen doubted that some of the present EMTs would be able, after past physical fitness, to meet the requirements of fire department candidates.

Willing Workers set goals

The Willing Workers' of America have established priorities for the coming year, designed to reach out to both the community and to call attention to the needs of the area.

Projects in which the group intends to become more involved include distributing flyers in the community to publicize the monthly meetings, organizing regional job-hunting lists, so that members are able to carpool to various companies, and writing letters to area senators and representatives for the purpose of drawing attention to the high unemployment and the available work force in the area.

At last month's meeting, several new members heard about job leads and of the job-hunting experiences by members who found employment.

Also presented to the group was information obtained from John Sauls regarding the Granite City Economic Opportunity Commission's winter weatherization program and general services the agency provides.

The next meeting will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Granite City Jaycee Hall, 1855 Poplar St. The guest speaker will be Marcus Crismon, the employment representative from Illinois Job Service office in Granite City.

All out-of-work residents are being invited to attend the meeting.

DRIVER ARRESTED
Thomas E. Gifford, 23, of the 2800 block of Missouri Avenue, was charged with failure to have proper automobile registration after he was questioned last week at Niedringhaus Avenue and State Street. He later was released on his own recognizance and must appear in court next month.

COMMENTARY

Congress moving closer to Percy

By ROBERT ESTILL, WASHINGTON — The Republican House losses on election day could have a beneficial effect for Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., when he seeks re-election in 1984.

The election returns are expected to push Congress toward a more centrist path, and Percy has hugged the center of the road throughout his congressional career.

Often faulted by critics for being out of step with his party and its president, Percy may not have to change his gait as 1984 nears. Congress may be moving to get in step with him.

The new Congress basically will face a choice of compromise or stalemate. Although Republicans retain their 54-46 majority in the Senate, Democrats expanded their House control with a net gain of 26 seats. That gives House Democrats a 267-166 edge, and they are expected to gain two more Democrats Nov. 30 when two Georgia congressional districts hold elections that were delayed by redistricting problems.

More importantly, most Democrats replacing House Republicans are liberal or moderate, not the conservative "boll weevils" who joined with House Republicans in forging President Reagan's legislative victories.

Both House Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Penn., and Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., are expected to be more accommodating to Democrats. As a matter of political survival in 1984, there should be a concerted effort by both Republicans and Democrats to reach agreement on a jobs program to reduce unemployment.

Reagan also will have to be more flexible if he expects to get anything through this new Congress. The move to moderation in Congress would make it politically safer for moderate or liberal Republicans of the Percy stripe to oppose the White House if Reagan does not bend.

In fact, this will be a more conciliatory Congress that would fit well with both the operating style and the personality of Percy, a self-styled Eisenhower Republican who tries — not always successfully — to dodge confrontations.

Percy has always tried to have the best of both worlds by portraying himself as a fiscal conservative and a social liberal, a blend that usually works well in Illinois elections. To the extent that a more moderate Congress helps him, Percy will be aided in his bid for a fourth six-year term.

Any Republican opposing Percy in the primary election will have to run to the right. Indeed, some right-wing groups already are targeting Percy. But he may prove to be an elusive target.

Percy has a stockpile of ready answers if a conservative primary election rival revives the old arguments that Percy is out of step with his party, out of touch with Illinois and a big spender.

He can point to a voting record that shows him as one of Reagan's more consistent supporters in the first half of the president's term — when Reagan's popularity made it difficult for Republicans to oppose him. Since he won re-election in 1978 with only 54 percent of the vote, he has taken steps to give him closer ties with the voters. One of the first things he did was bring aboard an able and politically astute aide, Galen Reser, to keep tabs on Illinois projects and issues. Percy has been in each of the state's 102 counties at least once in the last four years.

His role as Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman could be used to portray Percy as more concerned with national and international relations than with domestic issues. But Percy counters that by stressing how he uses the job to help Illinois businesses improve exports. If he gets hit as a big spender on foreign aid, he can argue that the bill he steered through the committee contains fewer dol-

Slipped disc drug gets final FDA nod

By DAVE GATHMAN, ELGIN — After 19 years of controversy, an Elgin-developed drug that could replace surgery for some 200,000 victims of slipped discs has been legalized by the Food and Drug Administration.

The FDA approved use of chymopapain — an enzyme derived from the papaya plant — developed by Elgin surgeon Lyman Smith at Sherman Hospital.

The enzyme will be made by Smith Laboratories of Northbrook, a company founded by Smith's nephew, Dr. W. Scott Smith, in 1979. It will be distributed to orthopedic surgeons under the brand name Chymodiactin.

The enzyme offers a simpler treatment to victims of herniated, or slipped, discs in the lower back. In this condition, the jelly-like buffer between spinal discs leaks out and causes excruciating pain by pressing on nerves. The worst cases usually have been treated by laminectomy, an operation in which the material is cut out.

Smith got the idea in 1959 that it might be possible to avoid surgery by injecting the papaya extract, which might dissolve the leaking jelly and relieve nerve pressure. The enzyme digests the leaking material much like the stomach digests meat.

After tests on rabbits, Smith began experimenting on human patients. The potential wonder drug was unveiled to doctors on Jan. 10, 1964, the Journal of the American Medical Association.

During the next 11 years, the enzyme was tested on 17,000 patients, including 800 at Elgin's Sherman Hospital. The most famous case at Sherman involved Chicago White Sox third baseman Bill Melton. In 1975, the FDA declared that chymopapain does usually work — but then banned it.

Though the injections seemed to work in 70 percent of the cases tested, the FDA ruled then, it helped no more than an inert placebo in other patients.

After 1975, the enzyme was available only in other countries. Thousands of patients were sent by their doctors to Canada for chymopapain injections. It also was used throughout Europe and the USSR.

After much debate, and a lawsuit by Smith against the company to which he had sold rights to the drug for $1, the FDA approved a second round of tests in 35 Illinois hospitals last fall.

Smith, who now practices part-time, is at his second home in Florida and could not be reached for comment. But Dr. M. Norton Flanagan, director of Sherman's back clinic, said success of the latest tests was overwhelming.

"Initial evaluation of the 270 patients tested in Illinois indicated about a 50 percent approval rate," Flanagan said.

Smith, who now practices part-time, is at his second home in Florida and could not be reached for comment. But Dr. M. Norton Flanagan, director of Sherman's back clinic, said success of the latest tests was overwhelming.

"Initial evaluation of the 270 patients tested in Illinois indicated about a 50 percent approval rate," Flanagan said.

SCIENTIST SAYS
Get set for cold winter

CHAMPAIGN — The United States is in for a colder-than-normal winter this year, but probably not as cold as last winter, a University of Illinois scientist said.

"The coming winter will be colder than normal but probably not as cold as last year from the Midwest to the East," said Paul Hander, professor of physics in electrical engineering.

The western half of the United States will be closer to normal over the whole winter, though still on the cold side, he said. Other forecasters have based their "gloom-and-doom" predictions for an extremely cold winter on a veil of dust in the stratosphere produced by the April eruption of the Mexican volcano El Cincincho, he said.

"There is a lot of particulate matter in the stratosphere, so I believe that we will have a cold winter," Hander said. "But I don't think it will be any worse than we've seen over the last several years."

Precipitation this winter may be reminiscent of the winter of 1978, when two blizzards on Jan. 1 and Jan. 2, 1979, and one in early February — occurred, he said.

"The reason for that is that the jet stream over the Pacific Ocean is taking up a position whereby it is going to collide with cold Canadian air," he said.

Hander said his forecasts are based in large part on sea surface temperatures from the coast of Peru to the international date line, an area that is quite warm right now.

"There's general consensus among climatologists when that region of the world — which represents one-eighth of the world's surface — is warmer than normal, that there's a good chance the West Coast will be warmer than normal, and the East Coast, especially the Southeast, will be colder than normal," he said.

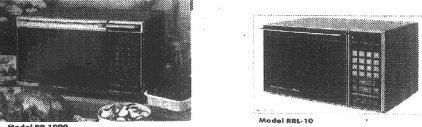

PLEADS INNOCENT — Everett (Tim) Hughes, 24, of 2801 Circle Drive was arrested there at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday for disorderly conduct after allegedly threatening a woman. Pleading innocent the same day, he was freed pending a hearing.

Schwendemann-Warren

Miss Deborah Kay Warren, of Reno, Ill., and Wayne Allyn Schwendemann, of rural Sorento, formerly of Granite City, were married Saturday, Nov. 8, in a ceremony at Calvary Temple in Greenfield, Ill. Officiant at the 4 p.m. service was the Rev. Eugene Dayka, pastor.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Loren Warren of Reno, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schwendemann, Granite City.

Miss Melody Dayka played the organ and piano, and she sang "Tender Love and Color My World." Rev. Larry Arndt of Hillsboro, Ill., sang "Great is Thy Faithfulness," accompanied by Miss Dayka at the organ.

A brass arch adorned with greenery and flowers was used at the altar for the couple as they exchanged vows. White satin bows marked the pews and the sanctuary was decorated with pink and cranberry colored pom-poms.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. Dorenda Embury was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Schwendemann, sister of the groom, and sisters of the bride, Rose Fones of Reno, Jen Royer of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Pam Milton of Sorento. Junior bridesmaid was Mitzi Schwendemann, the groom's niece.

Holly Warren, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

David Schwendemann, a brother from Chester, Ill., was best man. Groomsmen were Ernest Schwendemann, a brother from Old Appleton, Mo., Richard Fones of Reno, Gregg Ballard of Alto, and Jim Bart of Hartford, Ill. Junior groomsmen were Derek Schwendemann of Old Appleton.

Ushers were Richard

Fones Jr. and Dave Ward. Sarah Warren, a niece of the bride, attended the guest book. The ushers served as candlelighters prior to the seating of the grandparents.

Mrs. Cora Dameron of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwendemann of Collinsville.

A buffet dinner was served at a reception given at the Ladue Hall of the Greenville College. A string quartet entertained during the reception, and Miss Sarah Warren served punch.

A rehearsal dinner was held for the wedding party Friday evening at Calvary Temple hosted by the groom's parents.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yaeger, of Phoenix, Ariz., Mr. Leo Dameron of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Royer of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Mrs. Alpha Warren, Mr. and Mrs. John Pocklington and sons, John, James and Jason all of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Robert Schwendemann, of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwendemann of Collinsville, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schwendemann and children, Derek and Mitzi of Old Appleton, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. David Schwendemann of Chester, Ill.

The newlyweds will reside in rural Sorento. The bride is employed as a secretary to Dr. Robert Smith, vice-president of Greenville College and the groom is employed by Coffeen Cpl Mine.

Mrs. Ronald Brawley

Brawley-Boushard

Miss Tami Lynn Boushard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Boushard, 2 Kelly Drive, became the bride of Ronald D. Brawley, 718 Brown Ave., Venice, on Sept. 11, at the Nieringhaus United Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Young performed the 6 o'clock candle light ceremony. Acolytes were Jane Boushard, sister of the bride, and Rick Jobe, cousin of the bride. Organist Miss Peggy Pier accompanied the soloist, Dr. Terry Jobe, as he sang several nuptial selections.

Wedding guests attended a reception given at the Croatian Home in Madison, immediately following the ceremony.

Miss Lisa Meehan attended the bride as honor attendant. Linda Boushard, sister of the bride, Vicki Jobe, cousin of the bride, Linda Rinkel, and Patty Birky were bridesmaids. Jennifer Ohlendorf, a niece of the groom, was the flower girl.

The groom chose Tim Simmons as best man. Jerry Corrie, Terry Peach, David Levy and Jimmy Simmons, were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Greg and Brian Brawley, brothers of the groom.

Both bride and groom graduated from Venice High School. The bride is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and is now employed as an accountant for Welsh, Flatness, and Lutz in St. Louis.

The groom is a graduate of McKendree College and of Webster College. He is now employed as a police officer in the city of Venice.

The couple are now residing in Venice.

Phyllis Whitehead is guest speaker

Concordia member attends convention

The major issue in the abortion controversy is how each of us defines the human community," according to Rev. Richard J. Neuhaus, Sr. Fellow of the Council on Religion and International Affairs, in his keynote address to the Lutheran for Life National Convention during the weekend at the Astor Hotel in Milwaukee.

"Those who favor abortion construct an excluding definition, granting humanity to those who meet their criteria. Those of us who are pro-life, however, do not bestow humanity on anyone; we only recognize a reality (personhood of the unborn) that is already there. All in God's creation are to be cared for with the highest degree of urgency."

Dr. Ralph A. Bohmann, president of the 2.7 million-member Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, in his remarks to the group, emphasized that "The unborn are gifts of God's on-going creation, and all life is ours to cherish and protect."

All major Lutheran synods were represented by over 200 persons at the two-day conference. The convention's purpose was to further participants' understanding of the ramifications of the legal, medical and theological issues of the abortion controversy.

Mrs. McCauley hosts members

The Cloverview Garden Club conducted its November meeting at Charlie's Restaurant and was hosted by Mrs. Robert McCauley.

A desert luncheon was given to Mrs. John Lentz, club president, Mrs. Charles Gandora, Mrs. B.C. O'Neill, Mrs. George Stearns, Mrs. John Jenkins, Mrs. George Knapp and Mrs. Clarence Etheridge.

Mrs. Lentz called the meeting to order with the club order, given by Mrs. Etheridge. An announcement was made that the standard Flower Show will be given by the Fairview Heights Garden Club, Nov. 21, at the Caseyville Township Building. The theme will be "A Preview of Christmas All Through the House."

An invitation was read from the Salvation Army Board of Directors' officers and staff asking the club members and guests to attend the annual kick-off luncheon of the Tree of Lights, which was Tuesday.

trovery and to give a common Lutheran witness to the God-given right to life. Topics ranging from abortion to Bible studies to in vitro fertilization to euthanasia were discussed in depth in a series of 13 workshops.

Dr. Jean Garton, president of the national Lutheran for Life group, responded to the pro-abortionists charge that pro-lifers care about the unborn child to the exclusion of the rights of others. "Can a society that permits a mother to kill her unborn child by abortion," she asked, "also enact laws that may permit a child to kill its mother when that mother becomes unwanted and a burden?"

Dr. R. John Buuck, president of Concordia College, Milwaukee, and noted writer and lecturer on genetic engineering from a Christian perspective, summed up pro-life concerns for the future: "We must give human life the dignity it deserves; such dignity that receives its sanctity from being created by God. Society must set ethical standards based on Christian standards."

Marty Hoffman, a member of Concordia Lutheran Church, 2501 Grand Ave., attended the two-day convention.

The Salvation Army's goal this year is 2000.

It also was announced that the club made a donation to CARE, a subsidiary of World Gardening.

Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas party being given at Charlie's Restaurant and a Dec. 14 date was set.

Mrs. Eldon Melkamp will be the chairman of the committee in charge of preparation for the party.

Guests were received after the service at the Lion's Home in Madison. The newlywed couple is now residing at 511 Sharon Road, Apt. 254, Coraopolis, Pa.

Bigger = better when talking turkey

By CHARLYN FARGO

SPRINGFIELD — If there's one general rule for getting the most for your money when you buy a Thanksgiving turkey, it's the bigger, the cheaper.

"If you simply want the most meat for your money, buy the largest one you can find," says Sheila Ashbrook, foods and nutrition specialist with the University of Illinois.

The bigger a turkey, the more meat compared to bone, agrees David Goldenberg, director of industry relations for the National Turkey Federation.

Surprisingly, name brands aren't any better than generic turkeys, Ashbrook said. "They usually come from the same turkey flocks."

The key is to make sure any brand of turkey has a USDA Grade A label on the wrapper. That ensures the bird is meaty, has a well-developed layer of fat in the skin, is practically free of pinfeathers, is free from bruises, cuts and tears on the breast and legs, and doesn't have broken bones.

She also recommends against pre-basted birds. "You can get the same result if you baste the bird yourself while it's cooking."

The basting can give an off-flavor — it's mainly a 4 percent salt solution of broth and food additives," Ashbrook said.

She doesn't even bother to baste. "It usually comes out just as moist."

The secret of a tender, moist turkey depends not on the basting, but on how long the turkey is cooked. Since turkey is high in protein, it's heat-sensitive. If overcooked, it will seem tough and dry.

There's not much difference between tom and hen turkeys, either. "The tom vs. hen preference is an old wives' tale," said Goldenberg. "Because the tom was bigger or lived longer, it was thought to be tougher and the hen more tender. That's simply not so."

"Turkeys today are raised indoors, in close quarters. Most muscles aren't even used, so every turkey is much more tender than a wild turkey used to be."

Tenderness is directly related to the age of the bird when processed. Most birds come to market between 14 and 22 weeks of age, still classified as "young turkeys." Therefore, Goldenberg said, a 24-pound bird can be as tender as a six-pounder.

Another flap centers around fresh vs. frozen turkeys.

There is little demand for fresh turkeys — ones that are chilled but not frozen — except at Thanksgiving. Personal preference decides which is better.

"I've talked to many people who prefer fresh turkeys over frozen," Ashbrook said. "They can be more expensive. But basically any fresh meat tastes better than frozen. Taste and texture deteriorate somewhat during freezing. But it really depends on the sophistication of one's taste buds."

A fresh turkey should not be purchased until the day before Thanksgiving because poultry doesn't keep well in the refrigerator.

What will a turkey cost this year? Generally, 20 to 30 cents more per pound than last year, based on a 4-5 percent cut in production and cold storage supplies.

Ashbrook said if a consumer watches specials near Thanksgiving, a turkey can be had for 49 to 59 cents a pound. "Turkey is always a good buy, but it seems to be cheapest the week before Thanksgiving."

Since 1945, turkey consumption has increased 400 percent per capita, but the increase has been gradual, Goldenberg said.

"It's been a steady increase, nothing dramatic. What's helped are nutrition consciousness and skyrocketing red-meat prices."

BATTERY STOLEN
A battery was taken from an automobile of Owen Ross, 2118 State St., during the weekend, it was reported by the owner early this week. The locked vehicle was parked in the driveway of the Ross home, according to the report.

Glik's to open new store in Fairview Heights soon

Joe Glik, chief executive officer of Glik's Department stores, has announced the opening on Friday, Nov. 26, of a specialty store selling only updated "misses" and juniors' fashions at St. Clair Square in Fairview Heights.

The store will use 5,400 square feet of space formerly occupied by the Libson Shops on the second floor of the mall.

The lease for the shop was acquired late Monday in Federal Bankruptcy Court and a Glik's spokesman said that negotiations are underway for acquisition of another lease involving the Libson bankruptcy case. The negotiations involve space at Westport Plaza in Maryland Heights, Mo.

Lorna Eavenson, a Granite City resident, will manage the new Fairview Heights store and Sandy Conklin will be associate manager.

$400 MEAT BURGLARY
Gaining entry to a basement storage area, a burglar took 150 pounds of frozen beef, valued at $400, from Daniel Seymour, 2408 Pontoon Road, it was discovered Tuesday.

The Glik's chain presently consists of 12 department stores and two specialty stores in the Metro-East area. Glik's management is "very excited" and Joe Glik said he sees the "lease acquisitions as a major step in the store's growth in the area."

HOME IS RANSACKED
A burglar ransacked the home of Lynda Cunningham, 211 Wilson Park Lane, on Tuesday after removing a screen and prying open a window. A list of missing items is being compiled.

When school is out, try the YMCA, Femrite suggests

"Remember when you were 8 years old, out of money, and no place to go and nothing but 'dead' time on your hands?" David L. Femrite, executive director of the YMCA here asks.

"The 'Y' was the only place where you could swim, play basketball and have a good time. Things haven't changed! The 'Y' still is the fun place for youth to go."

The 'Y' has started a new program for youth each weekday that school is on a break. The 'Y' will be open to all youth, members and non-members alike. Youth can play in the gym from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and swim in the pool from 2 to 4 p.m. for only $1 on Nov. 26 and throughout the Christmas holidays, as well as other school vacation days in 1983.

Eagles Aerie announce 'Sr. Citizen of Year'

The Eagles Aerie held its annual Senior Citizens Kick-Off Dinner at which time they honored auxiliary member, Mae Amisch, as the "Senior Citizen of the Year" of the Granite City Eagles.

This is the first time a woman has been so honored. She was presented with an engraved plaque, a corsage and a gift. Proceeds of the dinner will go for Thanksgiving dinners for needy senior citizens, and towards Christmas baskets. Guest speaker was Chris Von Nida, and the opening prayer was given by Ruby Corbitt, who, with Carrie Hart, represented the Granite City Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

The Eagles Auxiliary held its semi-monthly meeting in the Eagles Home, 2600

Madison Ave., the following week, presided over by the President Verne Von Nida. Various project chairmen gave reports on their money making projects for state charities. The application of Evelyn Ferro was read and accepted.

It was voted to start a fund to help the District Ritual Team to go to the state convention next year for competition.

The Aerie Officers' breakfast has been reset for Sunday, Nov. 21, instead of Nov. 14, as previously announced, the president noted.

Attendance prizes were won by Florence Hagauer and Mary Horvat.

A luncheon of salad and cake and coffee was served by the hostesses for the evening, and next meeting will be Nov. 23 at 8 p.m.

Rose plant care is club program

Several methods for winterizing rose plants, developed by the University of Illinois horticulture services, was presented by Mrs. Roy Hormann at a meeting of the Gardenaires Garden Club, last week.

Mrs. Jerry Arbeliter hosted the meeting which opened with members answering roll call with the name of a favorite flower used to make pressed flower pictures (PFP).

President Mrs. Leo Schank gave a report on the President's Council Day session held in Caseyville.

She explained the new energy tree planting program which has been adopted by both the state and district organizations as a project for the forthcoming year.

A general discussion followed regarding the local club participation in the program.

Mrs. William Long, Garden Center chairman, announced the current display at the mini-garden center at the Granite City Public Library features poisonous and carnivorous plants. She also reminded members to meet at the library on Nov. 30 to decorate the main floor for the holiday season.

Members reviewed plans for the Granite City Park District Festival of Ideas show set for Saturday at the Harold E. Brown Recreation Center.

Club members planted 31 trees and 106 shrubs during the year according to the Illinois plant report, read during the session.

After the business segment, Mrs. Richard Kerch introduced Mrs. Alex Tarporff who presented a program entitled, "Stories Our Pressed Flower Pictures Tell." During her talk, Mrs. Tarporff told the legends of the mum and crocus plants and Dogwood trees.

She concluded by asking the members to view a number of pressed flower pictures and identify the material used.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas buffet set for Thursday, Dec. 9, in the home of Mrs. Schank with Mrs. Kerch as co-hostess.

Others attending were Mrs. C. E. Eads, Mrs. Charles Kohl and Mrs. Mary Kristman.

Circle 835 installs officer

The newly elected officers of the Daughters of Isabella, Circle 835, presided over the November meeting of the organization last week held in the Knights of Columbus hall.

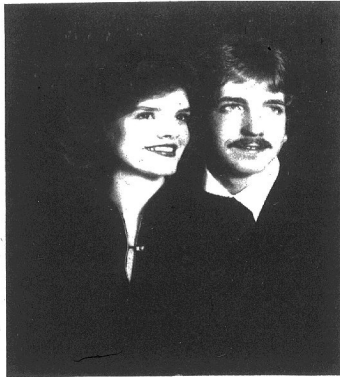

Prior to the meeting Clara Schillinger was installed as chancellor, and she later led the members in prayer followed by the pledge to the flag. All other officers were installed at St. Mary's Church in Edwardsville on Oct. 24.

Members of Bay View Reading Club attended a social meeting and luncheon at Charlie's Restaurant, last week.

The program was a book review of "My Life" concerning Golda Meir, given by Mrs. Velma Gruen.

Others attending were Mesdames E. M. Arnovitz, Arthur Buente, Wayne Carlisle, Herman Huxel, A. E. Krummick, Chris Louis, Frances Lynch, Lawrence McCauley, William Miller, Dale Ren and Miss Hazel Towery.

The Christmas meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Klein, it was announced.

Jaleigh Jeffers

Grace Baptist anniversary

Jaleigh Jeffers, Miss Illinois of 1982, will take part in the 25th anniversary celebration at Grace Baptist Church, 2800 Edwards St., Sunday morning at 9:30. Nov. 21, according to the host pastor, the Rev. Bob Jones.

Miss Jeffers is an accounting graduate of Southern Illinois University. As a talented pianist, she captured the Miss Illinois crown and will present her Christian testimony at the morning worship hour.

The church has been serving Granite City for a quarter of a century and in celebration of the 25 years of service an extensive day of activities has been planned.

A gospel singing group known as the Cornerstone will be in concert and the Agape, a mixed ensemble from the church, will also appear on program.

Others expected to take part in the observance will be charter members, former pastors and former members of the congregation. A nursery will be provided, the minister added.

Third Baptist to host missions conference

A World Mission Conference will convene at the Third Baptist Church, 2801 Grand Ave., beginning today and continuing through Nov. 21, featuring two former Granite City pastors.

The Rev. Marvin Peters, representing State Missions in North Central Illinois will share his testimony on Thursday and on Friday, the Rev. Ray Eitleman, will speak. He is now serving in Upper Volta, Africa as a foreign missionary. Both speakers formerly pastored the Third Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue.

Collinsville Church Revival

The Rev. Jimmy Dell will be the guest speaker at revival services beginning tonight at the First Church of the Nazarene, Highway 157 and St. Louis Road in Collinsville, the host pastor, Rev. William D. Chenault, announces.

Services will be at 7:30 each week night and 9:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday, the minister added.

Christmas Ingenuity

The art of sewing by hand is displayed in the attractive and useful gift items to be featured at the annual "Christmas Ideas Festival," sponsored by the Granite City Park District on Saturday, Nov. 20.

Handmade applehead dolls, lower left photo, dressed in dainty calico dresses and caps and starched aprons ready for sale are exhibited by Helen Cox of Troy, Ill. Decorative lined baskets, lower right photo, in a variety of colors and prints are completed by Lynn McClain, left, and Diane Smith of Granite City in time for the park festival.

The show, featuring 53 craftsmen and artists, will be at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, Franklin and Amos avenues, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Among the many items available at the ideas festival include a variety of canned delicacies. These include homemade jams and jellies of many flavors in addition to apple, peach and pumpkin butters.

Some exhibits will feature a wide selection of handmade items including candles, pine cone crafts, grapevine wreaths, art glass and ceramics.

Quilts, afghans, pillows, hand-painted pillow cases, tote decorated items, aprons and hand-drawn paperdolls and outfits will be featured in many of the colorful displays.

Handmade woodwork items, wind chimes, frames, clocks and doughnut items will be among the many handcraft offerings.

Also available will be baby items, doll houses and a wide selection of handmade doll furniture, pressed flower pictures, sewing baskets, wrist wallets, live plants and rock creations.

One booth, featuring mice ornaments made by Linda Ressler of Brighton, Ill., will also offer free patterns for various bazaar items.

Dena Takmajian of Granite City will offer verses written in calligraphy on parchment paper, some mounted in padded frames.

Rev. Udell Moss

Revival services at St. Paul's

The public is invited to attend the revival services now in progress at St. Paul's Church of the Nazarene, 4300 Maryville Road, featuring evangelist the Rev. Udell Moss, according to the Rev. Jerry Harris, host pastor. Rev. Moss is a full-time evangelist in the Church of the Nazarene and prior to entering this field of the ministry he served at the Ferguson Church of the Nazarene for 31 years. During this time he was a school administrator for North County Christian School, operated by the Ferguson Church.

Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 20 and 21st, will mark the 20th anniversary of St. Paul's Church. Mark Murphy, a well-known gospel lead vocalist, will provide special music at all services, Rev. Harris added. Each evening services will start at 7 o'clock and on Sunday at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. and at 6 p.m., the minister said.

St. Peter's host autumn events

St. Peter's Pre-School for the Young Years, 2103 Cleveland Blvd., sponsored several autumn events for the students during October. The three and four year old classes visited Loesch's pumpkin farm near Roxana where they toured the strawhouse, rode on a hay wagon and walked around the grounds. Each child chose a pumpkin to take home.

Students also attended a Halloween party dressed in costumes, participated in games and were served refreshment.

In keeping with the school program, children also began the first of regular monthly visits to the story hour at the Granite City Public Library.

Thanksgiving activities are underway and Christmas celebrations are being planned, according to the teachers.

Enrollment is now open to all three and four year olds and each age level is offered a separate curriculum. Two certified and experienced teachers, Mrs. Darlene Borsardi and Mrs. Len Ann Hollis work with the children at all times. For information, those interested are advised to call the church office from 9 a.m. to 12 on Monday through Friday.

Industrial layoffs change donor strategy

Industrial layoffs are leaving some unlikely victims in its wake. One such affected group has been the Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Director Gwen O'Guin, however, has called the first downtown community blood drive, initiated, in part, to counteract a drop in industrial donations and, in part, to take full advantage of a new location, even more a success than she had anticipated. She gave the bright assessment at a recent board of directors' meeting.

While some specialized plasma collection centers, which pay donors, may prosper as unemployment remains high, more than 140 area hospitals rely on the non-paid donations received by the Missouri-Illinois Red Cross Services.

The Red Cross here has traditionally depended on regularly scheduled blood drives relying on the readily available and willing supply of the areas' industrial workers. But extended layoffs and the part closures of some business operations have altered the local chapter's collection approach. For example, former A. O. Smith plant workers were the source of large blood contributions, according to Mrs. O'Guin.

The need for the shift was strikingly demonstrated the same week the first community blood drive was launched. American Steel Foundries, plagued by extended plant shutdowns, had to cancel its blood drive.

The goal set for the blood drive held last month had been 50 donors, instead 90 residents took the time to come to the center with 83 "good" blood donors accepted. The regional office, headquartered in St. Louis, also was pleasantly surprised with the results, reported Mrs. O'Guin.

She announced plans at the board meeting to conduct another downtown community drive twice a year, once in the spring and again in the fall. The chapter already coordinates a semi-annual community-wide drive under the sponsorship of Church Women United and twice yearly student drives at both Granite City high schools.

Dolores Vogeler, chairman of the Blood Program, recently was awarded an "Outstanding Volunteer" plaque by the American Red Cross for her work.

Participants in the downtown drive held at chapter's new office, 2100 Edison Ave., formerly St. Joseph School, included donors ranging from Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler to juvenile donor Hazel Murphy of Granite City, who gave her 73rd pint. The mayor represented community leaders invited to encourage other contributors and to give themselves. Mrs. Murphy apparently stood for all those individuals who simply become aware of a need and respond accordingly.

Mrs. Murphy, whose contributions equal about nine gallons, answered questions at the drive as she was donating, a small needle taped to her right arm.

"During the war, I started giving when the drive was on," she said. She continued the practice after the war, stopping for a period after her husband died.

"Then I started again and began giving... whenever I feel up to it now," she said. "I'll be giving again. It's never bothered me once."

First-time giver Township Tax Assessor Von Dee Cruise, who contrasts with Mrs. Murphy's record, agreed with her views on the procedure, he also found painless.

A SPECIAL VOLUNTEER. Dolores Vogeler, Granite City, is congratulated for her selection as an American Red Cross "Outstanding Volunteer" by Joseph Lombardi, assistant manager of the Bi-State Region, Missouri-Illinois Regional Blood Services. Mrs. Vogeler is chairman of the Tri-City Chapter of the Blood Program.

Regional blood services consultant, Pat Moxley said that every day in the Bi-State area, about eight blood drives are being conducted to gather the 800 to 900 pints of blood required each day. St. Elizabeth Medical Center is among the recipients.

Although the drives usually maintain the overall volume needed, emergency alerts for specific types of blood do occur, stated Pat Moxley. During the community drive, such a crisis call was being made for Type O blood.

If only one-fourth of the current donors would contribute twice yearly, rather than once, there would never be a blood supply shortage, she said.

Healthy persons 17 and older may give blood. Potential donors 66 years of age and older need recent health statements from their doctors to donate blood.

Those interested in contributing may contact the Tri-City Chapter at 452-7184.

Ainad ceremonial Saturday

Potentate Mark W. Moreton, head of the nearly 9,000 Nobles of Ancient Shrine Temple, will head the Fall Ceremonial where more than 100 Master Masons participate Saturday.

These new novices are part of the Scottish Rite and York Rite Masons of Southern Illinois, which Ainad covers, including 41 Shrine clubs and 40 uniformed units. Ainad will observe its 70th year in 1983 as a charter member of the Ancient Accepted Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, where there are 185 temples in North America.

Ainad, which was the 130th, is number 26 in membership standing. The new members-to-be will gather at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, will leave the Mosque at 9 a.m. to visit the St. Louis unit of the Shriners Hospital, then return for the first part of their degrees.

Director Orville Hornert of Granite City will have his director's staff ready for the second section following lunch at noon, and by 5:15, the ceremony is to receive his fee.

The ceremonial is named the "Hallie Lewis day," and recognizes one of the ardent workers of the temple and a motive of Vernon. Many guests from other Masonic bodies will be present for the Grand Entry and dinner that evening.

Lions Club dinner tonight

The Lions Club of Pontoon Beach will have its annual anniversary dinner and meeting tonight at the Lions Den. The club has been serving the Pontoon Beach area for the past nine years.

President Frank Cramer will preside over the dinner meeting. He commented that the first nine years of the Lion's Club has been very productive and foresees a bright future for the club in the village area.

The evening will begin with a turkey and ham dinner which will be catered by Volok's Catering of Madison. After dinner, the program for the meeting will feature a representative from St. Elizabeth's Hospital who will talk on the topic of diabetes. Entertainment will follow with Officer Apperson of the Granite City Police Department performing feats of magic. Officer Apperson is a well known magician in the area.

The Lions Club has invited the Lioness Club of Pontoon Beach. A gathering of about 60 people is expected.

SYNTHESIZER STOLEN
A $700 keyboard synthesizer was stolen while band equipment was being loaded into an auto Monday on the parking lot of Charlie's Restaurant. The wood-grain musical instrument was owned by Bradley Sliptic of St. Louis.

Services for Rose Ferguson

Graveside services were conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16, in Calvary Cemetery, St. Louis, for Mrs. Rose E. (Anderson) Ferguson, 63, of 2408 Terminal Ave.

Mrs. Ferguson died at 7:40 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 14, 1982, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had been ill for several years and was hospitalized for eight days.

A native of Winona, Ill., Mrs. Ferguson resided in St. Louis before moving to this area 34 years ago.

She was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Her husband, Henry Johannpeter, died in 1960.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Edward (Carolyn) Fowler and Mrs. Paul (Doris) Shelton, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Mary Avery of California; a son, Theodore Johannpeter, Granite City; 24 grandchildren, 100 great-grandchildren and several great-great-grandchildren.

Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., was in charge of arrangements. In lieu of flowers the family requests memorials be made to the American Cancer Society or American Heart Fund.

THEFT AT HOME

Beverly Johnson, 2426 Lincoln Ave., reported a jewelry box containing a gold wristwatch and two gold chains valued at $200 was discovered missing from the bedroom early this week.

Mrs. Johnson said a man who owed her and her husband, Jerome Johnson, $600 for repairs to an automobile involved in an accident came to the house to pay $50 on the bill. When he and his girlfriend left, the jewelry was found missing.

Moss, Miss Turck picked as Elks' Teens of the Month

Miss Mary Turck and David Moss have been selected as Teenagers of the Month by Granite City Elks Lodge 1083 for November.

Miss Turck, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turck, 2430 Pine St., and is a senior at Granite City High School North. A volunteer candy striper at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, she is the 1982 Metro St. Louis Area Youth Volunteer for the United Way.

The North High senior also has been selected Youth of the Year by the Granite City Optimist Club.

The teenagers of the month, one picked from each of the Granite City high schools, are honored by the Elks Lodge at their monthly meetings. The organization sponsors the monthly program in an effort to bring recognition to outstanding teenagers in the community. Selection is based on citizenship, scholarship and leadership.

The students are nominated and selected by their respective student bodies. Each teenager of the month is presented a certificate recognizing the honor and a $50 savings bond by the fraternal organization.

Moss, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Moss, 10 Miami Court, and is a senior at Granite City High School South.

He has been named tutoring chairman of the National Honor Society and was a semi-finalist in National Merit Scholarship competition. Moss appears in the current issue of "Who's Who Among

DAVID MOSS

MARY TURCK

American High School Students" and has received the Junior Engineering Technical Society certificate, citing his special talent in the engineering field.

Moss plans to study engineering in college upon graduation this spring. He maintains a 5.3 grade point average, taking accelerated courses.

Miss Turck maintains a 4.0 grade point average at North High. She is president of the Future Secretaries Association and serves as secretary of the Quill & Scroll staff and has been active in the Thespian Society and National Forensic League.

Presently, she is planning a career in public relations and will attend Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville after graduation.

Moss is active in Junior Achievement, has served on the South High debate team and as manager of the Warrior football team.

14-DAY JAIL TERM

Robert W. Womack, 24, of 2156 Lee Ave., sentenced to 14 days in the Madison County jail at a hearing last week in Granite City, was transferred to Edwardsville. He had been arrested for disorderly conduct at 22nd Street and Washington Avenue and also was booked on a 1981 trespassing warrant.

DRUNK DRIVING AND CANNABIS CHARGES

A Granite City boy, 16, was arrested at 11:30 p.m. Monday at Niedringhaus Avenue and Cleveland Blvd. for driving while under the influence of alcohol and possessing cannabis.

It is alleged his car swerved between traffic lanes and later narrowly missed an auto at a gasoline pump.

YMCA suggests after-school program

"Did you know that the latest figures show that more than 50 percent of all women are working? As a result of this trend, more and more children are going home to unsupervised, empty homes at the end of the school day — if they go home at all," David L. Femrite, executive director of the Tri-City Area YMCA notes.

This fall, the YMCA in Granite City is initiating a new program to offer assistance to those parents who must work but who are, nevertheless, concerned about their school-age children during those hours between school dismissal and a parent arriving home from work.

Each weekday afternoon, when school is in session, a bus will stop at school and transport the children to the YMCA for a couple of hours of "Fun-N-Fitness." The schools currently on the bus schedule include: Niedringhaus, Frohardt, Parkview and Wilson.

"If we have enough interest from other schools, we will consider a stop there also, Femrite noted. Parents may pick their 6 to 11-year-olds up at the YMCA any time before 6 p.m., knowing that they are being well

YMCA sleepovers offered

The Tri-City Area YMCA will be holding sleepovers again this year for boys and girls ages 6 to 12. These are cared for and involved in swimming, gym activities, etc," he added.

"We feel this is an excellent program and will be meeting a pressing need in the community. Call us at 876-7200 for more information," he concluded.

sleepovers have proved very popular in the past, says David L. Femrite, executive director of the YMCA.

The next sleepover will be Friday, Nov. 26, from 7 p.m. to 8 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 27.

"The sleepovers will be a fun night of games, racquetball, swimming (each youth should bring his own towel), a movie, snacks, and surprises," Femrite adds.

The fee for each child is $6. Registrations are on a first come, first served, basis. Registrations are limited and the deadline is Wednesday, Nov. 24.

The YMCA will be having a sleepover the second and fourth Friday of each month, from November through May, 1983. All boys and girls ages 6 through 12 may sign up.

For more information, parents may call the YMCA at 876-7200, or stop by at 2001 Edison Ave., to register.

ARRESTED ON THEFT WARRANT

Cutting school costs to be topic Nov. 23

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

A special meeting of the Granite City Board of Education has been called for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 23, to begin the task of trying to more nearly balance the district's budget.

A policy committee meeting is set for 7 that night.

The board hopes to end second-year tax borrowing for school operating expenses, as well as reducing first-year loans. To do this, it is convinced, drastic changes must be made in present school services.

"I am not proposing reduction of the caliber of our academic programs," Superintendent B. J. Davis said after Tuesday night's board session, in which the board decided to devote an entire meeting to "budget and cost control" matters. Davis and other administrators have been devising a broad range of options, aided by suggestions from school employees and citizens.

The superintendent has tried to leave no "sacred cows" other than the quality and diversity of the instructional content.

Board members speculated Tuesday night that they may be "in and out" of executive sessions several times Nov. 23. Elimination or continuation of various staff positions is to be discussed without the public present, in accord with the state meeting law.

Supt. Davis hopes that the board will be able to narrow the kinds of cost cuts it prefers, selecting from an initially wide spectrum of possibilities.

Then, the administrative staff will concentrate on those areas chosen and will develop more detailed plans for later final action by the board.

Although what will be proposed next week has not been disclosed, board members and administrators are known to have been pondering operating fewer buildings and employing fewer personnel after the end of the current school year of 1982-83.

Whatever is decided upon is to be made public "the sooner the better," board members have commented, in order to give as much time as possible for affected individuals to adapt to the impact of the school system's new structure.

Honorable dismissal notices effective at the start of a new school year are issued at least 60 days before the end of the previous term, and the board has voiced hope that most of its decisions about 1983 can be made by mid-winter.

Board members have tried to pare the 1982-83 budget but have found they are locked into numerous spending patterns and salary commitments. Instead, they are leaving the budget intact but avoiding budgeted expenditures wherever possible.

The 1983-84 budget is a far different situation. The board has wide latitude in shaping it, subject to such factors as a full round of employee pay and benefit negotiations. All staff agreements expire in June 1984.

School consolidations are believed likely to be ordered, enabling the district to revise its basic operational and maintenance costs while also trimming the number of persons on the payroll.

Aiding this strategy will be the early retirements of many faculty members and other employees, as of June 1983. Other retirements are scheduled for June 1984.

If there would be consolidations at the secondary level, the number of leadership positions also would be reduced, requiring an unprecedented number of difficult personnel decisions (except where retirements are slated).

Finance Director Norman Owsa has projected $7.7 million in school borrowing. This consists of the maximum allowed, $6 million, and $1.7 million in anticipation of warrants against the second year of future real estate taxes.

Factors have included inflation, the economic recession and enrollment losses.

The school system, founded as a community unit district in 1950, has retired all the debt associated with bond issues that financed several post-war construction programs.

Among these helping plan such expansions was Supt. Davis, now placed in the position of helping dismantle or "mothball" some of the services and facilities.

CONTRIBUTION OF $1,000 by Granite City Rotarians will finance purchase of books. Prepared for Today, which discuss ways young boys and girls can conduct themselves during situations in which they must think and act for themselves, particularly during after-school hours. The books are made available to Quad-City area youngsters, both scouts and non-scouts, through the Boy Scout office at 2016

Delmar Ave.; more than 1,000 already have been distributed, with more to be obtained. Pictured with the check and one of the books this week are (left to right) Richard Kerch of Rotary and the Scout Board, Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council Executive William Monical, Rotary President Tom Thebeau making the presentation, and Bob Stock of the Rotary Club.

CAUGHT AFTER WOMAN IS PUSHED FROM CAR

A boy, 15, was charged with battery and attempted auto theft after striking Mrs. Mary Fields of Granite City, invading her parked car and pushing her out of the vehicle. She had been seated in it at the 7-11 Store at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. When he attempted to drive away, he collided with another parked car.

Police captured him on Edison Avenue after a foot chase, aided by two youths who had pulled him out of the auto owned by Mrs. Fields' son. A juvenile custody petition is to be sought for the 15-year-old foster home resident.

SCHOOL BURGLARY

Matt Kramar, custodian at Niedringhaus School, found five youths on the steps of the school early this week who ran as he approached. After checking the security of the building, he found a glass panel on a door at the northeast side of the building had been removed. Nothing in the school had been disturbed, with the exception of the lock on the nurse's office that was punched open and a can of cold soda was setting on the floor nearby.

Praise officials for saving boy's finger

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Madison School Board received a letter of appreciation at its Tuesday meeting from Richard Bright, athletic director at Dupu High School, thanking school district personnel for coming to the quick aid of Randall Prior, a defensive tackle for Dupu, who severed a portion of his little finger during a football game on Oct. 22.

A section of the finger, approximately 1/4-inch by 1/2-inch, was severed as Prior attempted to tackle Kelly Scrum, a Madison football player.

Prior immediately reported the severity of the injury to Coach Bright, Madison Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) Robbie Robins and Mike Mack applied first aid and transported Prior to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The letter noted that off-duty police officer Charles Bridgik obtained sterile gauze, ice and a container to transport the severed section of finger, which was found by Matt DeJarnett about three minutes after the incident.

John Pulech, Madison school superintendent and Dan Kostenaki, high school principal, also assisted, the letter said.

Paul Bargiel, Madison detective and a member of the school board, went with Bright to transport the finger to SEMC. The entire process was completed within 15 minutes and Prior underwent successful surgery to replace the finger that night.

"The strength and spirit of this young man (Prior) and the compassion and quick responses from the Madison High staff and athletes will not soon be forgotten," Bright said in the letter.

In other action, the board approved a bid of $10,998 for an energy management system from Ener-Phase Systems, Inc. The decision was made based on a recommendation from Henry R. Gabriel and Associates, architects, 1930 Cleveland Blvd.

The board also made plans for the selling of furniture from the Dunbar and Junior High schools. The furniture will be available to the public for "a reasonable amount of money," Pulech said.

Approval also was granted to advertise for bids on a 10-passenger van after Pulech noted that the district's present van is in poor condition and would cost $1,900 to replace.

A policy change also was approved saying that the superintendent and assistant superintendent can not take simultaneous vacations, except in emergency situations. The policy, written by Bargiel and approved unanimously by the board, also stipulates that the superintendent and his assistant shall not take vacations in excess of three days without prior board approval.

Permission was granted for the Middle School cheerleaders to sell candy sticks and bars at home basketball games to raise money for attending one-day clinics, purchasing equipment and clothing and for treats after games or practices.

Valerie Stevens received approval to take Blair School students to their annual Christmas program and the board allowed that administrators may attend the Madison County Administrators Association dinner meeting, Dec. 1.

The next school board meeting will be Dec. 2 at 6 p.m., when principals from the Madison schools will discuss different facets of educational programming.

MORE ELECTIONS COMING

Illinois a haven for political junkies

By PAUL HARTH
Political junkies take heart. You only have to wait a few more months for your next election "fix."

Illinois, with its myriad of local governmental units, is rarely without the political glad-handers and baby-kissers, especially since the passage of the state's consolidated election law two years ago.

Just when most of you thought you could forget about politics for a while following the general election, announcements were being issued about the upcoming local races in February and April.

Candidate petitions are available at municipal, township and other local governmental offices for the election, which will be held April 12. Primaries, where necessary, will take place Feb. 22.

Among the offices up for election in many cities and villages will be those of mayor and president, council member and trustee and clerk.

Township officials including trustees, assessors, supervisors, clerks and road commissioners also will be elected in some areas, as will officers for park, park and library districts.

Some schools in other parts of the state will be holding elections at the same time. And citizens in some areas also will be casting votes on referendums and in special elections.

For information on what offices are up for election and the number of signatures needed for either candidate or referendum petitions, contact your local municipal or township clerk or school, library or park district office.

Candidates' petitions must be filed between Dec. 6 and 13 for those running in governmental units with more than 5,000 population. Filing dates for others are Jan. 24-31.

Dec. 13 also is the last day for citizens to file petitions for referendums in the larger governmental units, although public boards have until Dec. 18 to pass resolutions for referendums. For the smaller units, the last day for citizens to file referendum petitions is Jan. 24.

But April won't be the end of 1983 political campaigns in the state. Less than six months later, voters will be casting ballots again, this time for school

MEN'S FELLOWSHIP DINNER SATURDAY

The Men's Aflame Fellowship of the Quad-Cities will host a dinner meeting at 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20, at the Community Christian Center, 2801 Marshall Ave. Registration for members and their wives may be made by calling 877-4439 or 931-3515, a club spokesman added.

WALLET IS LOOTED

A thief took $51 from the wallet of Pearl Chamberlain, 2313 Winters Drive, at her home Tuesday. He was about 23 years old, 5-7 tall, slender, with light brown hair.

NAMED IN WARRANTS

Granite City police arrested Roger L. Bruzalis, 21, St. Louis, at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue at 6:35 p.m. Tuesday on Madison County sheriff's warrants alleging driving with a suspended license and driving without valid registration.

NFL strike vote gives Madisonian reason to cheer

BACK TO WORK. Tom Gordon of Madison is one person who knows what he'll be doing this Sunday. With the NFL players' strike tentatively settled, Gordon, one of the few males on the Big Red Line, will be back on the field as the Cardinals take on the San Francisco Forty-Niners. Above, Gordon lifts Jackie Schraut during the St. Louis-Dallas game earlier this season. That was the final game before the players went out on strike.

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

Sports Editor

At last, the professional football players' strike is over. The owners have made their stand, and it appears, the players will ratify something two months ago they said they would not. Still the same, this Sunday pro football again graces the stadiums, coliseums and televisions throughout the land.

Most would be hard pressed to believe there were innocent victims in the National Football League players' strike, (excluding those forlorned fans who experience withdrawal pains Sunday afternoon). Surely, the owners with their strike insurance and deductibles aren't the victims. And even the players, who were out for two months, will gain some things from their new contracts.

But, in Madison, there is a victim. That person is Tom Gordon.

No, he's not one of those obscure members of the Cardinal football team who never receives any media attention. Nor is he heir to Bill Bidwell's NFL franchise.

Gordon is a member of the Cardinal Big Red Line—the football Cardinals' cheerleaders.

"I really thought it (the football season) was all over," Gordon said. "I really didn't think they would play again, not this year."

"Sure, I'm glad it's over. It's the chance to do some of the things we've been practicing for five months," he said.

The strike cancelled eight of the 16 weeks of the regular season. Of those 16 games, the Line would have cheered on four of those dates.

This season, in all its brevity, is the first for Gordon, and males for that matter, on the cheerleading squad. The inclusion of males to the squad is a first for the Cardinals, but then the Big Red Line has undergone some other changes too.

In the past, the major selection criteria for members of the Line were beautiful, leggy women. This year, however, emphasis was put on dancing ability. That change, and the inclusion of males, has enabled the group to do more routines, Gordon said.

"We (the male members of the Line) really don't do that much cheering," he said. "We more or less lift and help with gymnastic routines."

Gordon said he and members of the Line practiced regularly for as long as three weeks after the strike began. Later, however, when mediation talks came to a standstill, Gordon said, the Line practiced very little.

Contrary to the group's name, the Big Red Line is not affiliated with the Cardinal organization. Nor does the Line, which is sponsored by KMOX radio, travel with the team.

Because of the prolonged players' strike, the Line's performances have been limited to a single showing the Dallas game on Sept. 19. St. Louis lost that game 24-7.

Despite, that sole appearance Gordon has managed to keep his morale up.

"Sure, it was a disappointment (but we only the single performance) but we had to keep practicing for a while anyway," he said. "I'm really happy (the strike is over) for the girls. Cheering always means so much to them. They've put in a lot of practice time for only that one performance," he said. "I'm just glad I don't have to do it for a living." Gordon said jokingly.

Members of the Line are paid $25 per game. He earns his bread money working as a chemist at Sigma Chemical in St. Louis. Gordon said he "cheers for the fun of it."

For Gordon, 23, being a male member of a cheerleading squad is nothing new. For four years he was a member of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville cheerleading squad.

"I really enjoyed doing it (cheering) in college. I heard they were including guys in the Cardinal Line this year so I thought I'd try out," he said. "Beside that, it's no secret. The girls look great!"

Cheering for the Line differs from cheering on a college squad in one way, Gordon said. "On the Line everything has to be perfect. In college we didn't have to be as precise in our routines," he said.

Initially, Gordon said he had some reservations about trying out for the Line.

"I really thought there'd be a lot of talented guys trying out for the squad. There really weren't as many as I thought. Now, since people have seen what we do out there there'll be probably be more (males) to try out next year," he said.

Gordon is one of eight males who survived cuts to become a member of the Line. He and one other male from East St. Louis are the only two from Illinois to make the squad. Thirty-two females made the Line.

The Line is divided into four squads—eight females and two males to each squad—that perform at each corner of the field. At the end of each quarter, the squads rotate so each performs at every corner of the field during the course of a game.

The halved football season resumes this Sunday as the Cardinals take on last year's Super Bowl champions the San Francisco Forty-Niners. After Sunday's game, only home games with Washington and the Giants remain.

Robertson, Early named MVP's at North banquet

This year's Granite City North fall sports season came to a close Tuesday evening as athletes, parents and administrators gathered in that school's cafeteria to honor those athletes who competed in golf and cross-country. Other banquets are scheduled for next week.

Steeler cross-country coach Pete Robinson's harriers were the only Steeler squad this season to finish first in the Gateway East Conference.

Junior Jim Robertson was named the most valuable male athlete on the Steeler harrier squad while sophomore Vicki Schaefer and Paula Rozycski shared the girls' most valuable honors.

"Jim's really fitting into the same mold that both (Mike) Baker and (Bruce) DeRuntz did," Robinson said. "Jim is just that far from really being a top contender," Robertson said holding his index finger and thumb just inches apart.

Baker is an Olympic hopeful, while DeRuntz, just last week, was named "All-American."

Senior awards were presented to Bill Schaefer, Brad Hart and Ken Meyer. An appreciation award was presented to Mrs. Ginger Meyer for her contributions to the cross-country squad.

In the golf segment of the banquet, Steeler coach Russ Chappell said the reason his team has such a poor season was because North's game "went crazy because we couldn't hit the green." The Steeler golfers finished the season 4-15. Senior Bill Early was selected as this year's golf MVP primarily, Chappell said, because of Early's 40.8 average.

There has been a change in the scheduling of two the Steeler athletic banquets.

The volleyball and tennis banquets originally scheduled for this Monday, Nov. 22, have been rescheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 23.

The football banquet, originally scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 23, has been rescheduled for this Monday, Nov. 22. Essentially, the dates for the two banquets have been switched. The banquets will be held, as previously announced, in that school's cafeteria.

The starting times for both banquets remains the same, 6:30 p.m.

The cost of the banquets is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children. Athletes eat free.

Reservations for the events must be made two days prior to the banquets.

South honors fall athletes with sports banquet

Last Monday's Granite City High School South sports banquet will live in the minds of some athletes for some time to come. That was the date of the Warrior football, volleyball and tennis athletic banquets.

It was an evening for reminiscing and honoring those athletes who competed in some of the Warrior fall sports programs. Approximately 400 persons attend the 3-sport banquet.

Warrior quarterback John Linhart and running back Ken Portell shared the most valuable offensive player award, while Dominic Griffin claimed sole possession to the Warriors' most valuable defensive player award.

Freshman Patrick Keeling is this year's recipient of the Chris Marcovsky Award. The award is given annually to the outstanding freshman football athlete.

Chris Marcovsky Sr. was a high school teammate of former Granite City High School principal Lawrence McCauley. McCauley served in World War II, but died shortly after returning home in 1946.

Marcovsky's son, Chris Jr., was named most valuable football player on the freshman squad in 1948, just two years after his father's death.

Approximately a month after the younger Marcovsky received the MVP award, he was killed in a hunting accident. Not long after the younger Marcovsky's death, the annual MVP award was renamed the Chris Marcovsky Award, a memorial to both the senior and junior Marcovskys.

This year's recipient, Keeling, is both a running back and a defensive back for the freshman squad.

In volleyball, senior Allison Boyd was honored as being both the best server and the best setter. Senior Trish Skinner was voted as the team's best spiker, while Teresa Soellner was named as the South's best receiver on the volleyball team.

The final athletes honored that evening were coach Paul Greve's Warrior tennis team.

Dina Lombardi was voted the team's most valuable player, while Sandy Hagen was voted the most improved member of the team.

Greve's final award of the evening went to Nancy Jones who was named South's most dedicated member of the girls' tennis team.

Tonight, beginning at 6 p.m., the state champion soccer team and the golf and cross-country teams will be honored at a similar banquet in the school cafeteria.

Remembering the reception rally

By now it's common knowledge that Granite City High School South's Warriors are the new state soccer champions. The Warrior victory has proven once again that Southern Illinois high school soccer is as good as anywhere.

The Press-Record sent two people to Northfield to record the activity. Nancy Well reported the action, while Alan L. Gerstenecker recorded the historical events on film.

Much of the soccer action during the state tournament resembled action the Press-Record has been reporting throughout the season. For that reason, surrounding activity, or extraneous activity, was highlighted.

The accompanying photographs were taken last Sunday afternoon at the reception rally at South. Coaches, managers and athletes took the podium to say a few words about the tournament.

Center, Phil "Brother" Popmarkoff looked good in his 3-piece suit, but it too appears to be a source of displeasure.

At right, Fritz Brewer was probably one of the more wordy Warriors.

We at the Press-Record had some fun captioning the photographs. Following are some of the responses.

McGowan's photograph: "I knew we were going to win all the time ... We came out after halftime and shot 'em. There New Trier, Bang you're dead."

Crane's photograph: "Gee guys, Heck it was nothing, I'd do it again if you wanted me to." Crane excelled in the championship game to score both Warrior goals.

Popmarkoff's photograph: "Hey, the suit might look good, but they're not as comfortable as my soccer shorts."

Brewer's photograph: "...And one more thing. Next time we play Senn High School I think there should be a IHSA ruling that a translator be present."

Warriors' Wiser finishes 46th in state meet

PEORIA—Just hours before Granite City South's soccer team defeated New Trier West to capture its sixth state soccer title in Northfield Saturday, Granite City South's cross-country standout Lora Wiser finished 46th in the Illinois High School Association's state meet in DeWittville Park.

Wiser posted a time of 12:25 in the 2.1 mile course. It was the young freshman's first exposure to a state harrier meet.

She earned the right to compete in the state meet Saturday, Nov. 6, by finishing ninth in the Springfield-Lanphier Sectional with a time of 12 minutes.

Warrior coach Rich Harmon said Wiser "turned in a good performance." Collinsville's Pam Quarengli finished the meet in second place with a time of 11:40, while O'Fallon's Lisa Judasick finished the meet 17th with a time of 12:03.

Shelly McBride, a sophomore from Crestview, won the girls' race with a time of 11:38.8.

Schaumburg won the girls' team competition with 97 points. East St. Louis Lincoln was eighth with 242 points.

In the boys' competition, Brent McClain of Benton won the 3-mile race with a time of 14:39.5.

York High School won the boys' team competition with 79 points, followed by St. Ignatius High with 167, Springfield-Lanphier with 194.

Area boys' teams to fare well included East St. Louis-Senior finished 19th with 328 points and Triad (St. Jacob) finished 23 with 479 points.

Edwardsville sectional team chosen

Five Granite City High School athletes have been named to the 1982 Edwardsville All-Sectional soccer team by the Chicago Sting High School Newsletter. Both North and South High Schools competed in the Regional IV of the Edwardsville Sectional.

Those from Granite City named to the Sting All-Sectional team include Bill Heney, Barry Grote and Tony Segobiano of the state champion soccer Warriors, and Tim Dean and Steve Tritschuh of the Steeler soccer squad. All five athletes are seniors.

Tritschuh, Grote and Segobiano were selected to the team as fullbacks, while Heney was named as a halfback and Dean was named as a forward.

All three Warriors named to the sectional team were also named to the Illinois "All-Tournament Team," selected by the media.

Others named to the Sting Sectional team include junior halfback John Edmond of Edwardsville, senior goalkeeper Peter Pearce and junior fullback Randy Tenholder both of Cahokia, Juan Ramos, junior halfback from Belleville East and senior forward John Stone of Alton-Marquette.

DeRuntz finishes 22nd; gains All-American

Bruce DeRuntz, a 1981 graduate of Granite City High School North, became one of this country's elite last Saturday as he earned All-American status after competing in the Junior College National Cross-Country Meet in Titusa, N.Y.

To gain All-American status, DeRuntz had to finish in the top 25 of the 230 runners who competed.

The Spoon River Junior College sophomore indicated his goal was just that, to finish in the top 25: to achieve the All-American status.

Last Saturday, DeRuntz achieved his goal of finishing in the top 25. In fact, he did even better than that as he finished 22nd in the 5-mile course with a time of 26:28.

DeRuntz qualified for the Junior College Nationals by winning the regional championship in Champagne on Oct. 29. DeRuntz set a new course record in that race with a time of 25:16.4. The old record was held by Mark Reed of Illinois State University.

Spoon River Junior College, located in Canton, is a 2-year institution. After graduation, DeRuntz will consider 4-year universities. He plans to major in industrial technology, product development.

As a student at North, DeRuntz ran track and cross-country. Steeler track coach Harry Lang said DeRuntz was "a good athlete who became an excellent athlete because of hard work."

"I think it's a very deserving reward for a deserving young man," Lang said.

Pete Robinson, North cross-country coach, said he isn't surprised by DeRuntz's success.

"As a runner, he wasn't the most talented kid," Robinson said. "He developed the talents he has and overcame his disabilities. I could see Bruce maturing into a fine athlete."

DeRuntz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Helen) DeRuntz of Granite City.

Baker heading to SLU?

Alumnus congratulates champion Warriors

By NANCY WEIL

of the Press-Record

The Press-Record staff congratulates the Granite City South soccer team on its sixth state tournament win. It has been a long, often difficult and controversial year, but through it all the Warriors have conducted themselves like true sportsmen and have played in a manner that makes the city proud.

Personally, I am reluctant to see the soccer season end for many reasons. Having graduated from South in 1977, I can remember when the Warriors started their 5-year state championship winning streak. I feel fortunate to have covered the team the year they brought the trophy back to Granite City.

On a more somber note, there is speculation that this could be coach Gene Baker's final year with South. Quite possibly, he could move on to the top job at St. Louis University, which opened with the official resignation of Harry Kevough.

Baker is reportedly one of two serious candidates for the job along with Kansas City Comets coach Pat McBride, who also has coached the St. Louis Steamers, Meramec College and was an assistant at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Cleveland State offered Baker the top position earlier this year, but he turned it down. Should he decide to take the SLU job (and the advisory committee decide on him), Baker assuredly would boost the team out of the doldrums they faced this season, caused by inconsistent play, that left the Billikens with the worst record in the history of soccer there.

SLU does not have a field of its own and the coaching position has been part-time (one of the stipulations in finding a new coach reportedly is to change that status), but I believe Baker could overcome those problems and do an excellent job coaching on the college level.

On an even more somber note...After the second South vs. North soccer game officials at the Illinois High School Association said they received a handwritten letter postmarked in Granite City that told the tale of what a rotten person Baker is and indicated that he does not deserve to live. After South won the sectional and made it to state, the IHSA received another letter postmarked from here in the same handwriting.

Apparently, Baker's critic had a change of heart and took back everything that was said in the first letter. Officials at the tournament found great humor in the situation.

Now that all is said and done, I would hope that all those who had problems with Baker during the season could just let the bad feelings drop. A lot of the difficulties probably stemmed from jealousy to begin with and rotten things were said and done that not only affected Baker, but his family and South's team as well. It was very unfortunate and I hope it never happens again.

Unfortunately, Baker and the team were greeted with bad news when they arrived here yesterday. Some during the time the team was at the press booth at the Gauntlett was destroyed. It looks as if the legs were sawed.

The press booth leans to one side and is just short of falling.

Worse than that, the soccer kickboard, which Mary Brandt did such a fine job of painting, was splashed with yellow paint on the Tournament of Champions side and painted completely on the other side.

Acts so childish should be reserved for the playpen.

Back to one bright note...Granite North's Steve Tritschuh, a fine defender capable of playing Division I college soccer in my opinion, is being looked at by Indiana University. Tritschuh did a good job all year for North and was brought up from the backfield to score on several occasions toward the end of the season. Although the Steelers did not have as good of a season as usual, there was plenty of potential on the team and several players—including Tritschuh, goalkeeper Steve Branding and a couple of others—who are quite capable of going farther with soccer.

Cougar cagers begin season Friday

EDWARDSVILLE—The first men's varsity Illinois University at basketball game ever played

Tuesday, Nov. 16, as Head Coach Tom Pugliese introduces the 1982-83 version of the Cougars in an intrasquad game in the Bubble Gymnasium. Previously the Cougars played at Edwardsville High School gym.

The First Annual Red-White Game, which matches Assistant Coach John Ruby's Red team against Assistant Coach Bob Bruzell's White team, is scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m. There will be no admission charge for the contest and all SIUE basketball fans are encouraged to attend.

In the Cougars final tune-up before heading to Alaska and playing five games in eight days, Ruby's red squad will include newcomers Aaron Gardenhire, Lamont Lampkins, Brad Bickell, Jack Nikcevic and David Hamilton as well as returning players Archie Tyson, Bob Gray and Joe Duckworth.

The white squad will include newcomers Jeff Condit, Anders Onarheim and Lars Graf along with returning stars Henry Felton, Jim Logan and Chris Hansen. The white squad will also feature two players who are listed as red-shirts after transferring to SIUE after playing for another university, Aaron McCarthy and Curtis McGriff.

The Cougars kick off the 1982-83 schedule Nov. 19 against the University of Alaska-Anchorage. SIUE's first home game of the season will be Nov. 26 when the Cougars tip-off against Logan College in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Two 7-yr. sentences

Two of those named in federal drug charges following a roundup of suspects here in early July received seven-year prison terms last week.

U.S. District Judge William Beatty, presiding at Alton, ordered concurrent seven-year sentences for Leon Sansarian, 49, Granite City, on two counts of cocaine delivery and one count of heroin delivery, and Michael Shambro, 34, Pontoon Beach, two counts of heroin delivery and one count of cocaine delivery. Each of the sentences also included three years of probation.

Robert E. Lee, 33, Granite City, was sentenced to six years in prison for attempted cocaine distribution.

Mark Hill, 29, Granite City, received concurrent four-year prison terms on two counts of methamphetamine delivery, with two years of probation. Gary Barnhart, 23, Granite City, was sentenced to two years in prison and two years of probation on methamphetamine delivery.

Others arrested in the drug arrest sweep in July are being prosecuted by the Madison County state's attorney on state charges.

Federal, state and local drug agents rented an apartment here and drugs were bought by officers during a "sting" operation spanning several months.

6 months in jail for GC break-in Earl Dowdy, 23, Granite City, has been sentenced to four years of probation and six months in the Madison County Jail in an appearance before Associate Judge Edward Ferguson.

A charge filed June 21 alleged that Dowdy committed a burglary in Granite City.

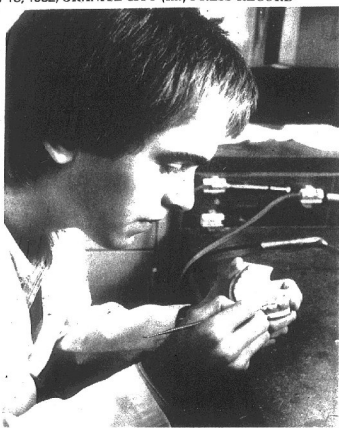

2 WEEKEND EVENTS AT ASSUMPTION HIGH

At Assumption High School on Saturday evening, "Las Vegas" games, gifts and dancing will be featured along with a 6 p.m. dinner and the theater department's production of "Airport 1984." The event will be a major fund-raising project for the school.

On Sunday at 7 p.m., performance of "Airport 1984" will be open to all age groups. The two-act musical melodrama blends traditional stereotypes — hero, heroine and villain — with a new plot.

HITS SIGN IN DITCH

High winds last week carried a Nash's Lounge portable electric sign into a ditch near 3675 Nameoki Road. The sign then was struck at 12:10 a.m. Friday by the pickup truck of Dennis Schuergen, 29, of 2804 Cayuga St., whose southbound vehicle had gone out of control and entered the ditch.

PRACTICING DENTISTRY.

Ronald Markarian of Granite City removes the surface of a cavity after drilling his first molar in a dental lab class at Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine. The first-year dental student is the son of John and Anna Markarian. He graduated from Granite City High School South and Washington University before beginning his dental studies in September.

Urge caution at RR crossings

Urging caution and common sense when approaching railroad crossings was the message of a videotape displayed at Belleville Area College recently.

Illinois has one of the highest number of fatalities resulting from accidents at railroad crossings in the nation, according to Don Richardson of the Illinois Commerce Commission, one of the organizations belonging to the Illinois Railroad Grade Safety Council.

He added that 73 percent of the accidents occur at crossings where there is a train-activated warning.

"The purpose of promoting railroad safety is trying to get people to think before they come to a railroad crossing," Richardson said. "These accidents don't have to happen."

There are several common causes of these accidents. Among these are the driver misjudging the speed and distance on an oncoming train, the driver trying to race the train to the crossing or the driver failing to check for a second train that may be on the same or an adjacent track.

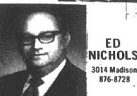

Another cause is the driver failing to hear an approaching train because of noise from the air conditioner or radio. Accidents are also caused when a driver is unable to stop because of faulty brakes or other mechanical defects.

When approaching a railroad track, drivers should always remember to observe the safety warning signs. According to the Illinois Railroad Grade Safety Council, drivers should always follow the simple steps stop, look and listen when coming to a railroad crossing.

SIUE RESEARCHES FLUORINE CHEMISTRY

The chemistry department at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will begin basic research Dec. 1 under a $49,900 grant from Mallinckrodt Inc. on new methods to put fluoride in molecules.

The three-year study, the first industrial research grant ever received by SIUE, will support post-doctoral work by Khemesh Jothi from Kansas State University. Timothy Patrick, SIUE chemistry professor, who wrote the grant proposal and will direct the project, said fluorine compounds are used in medical applications and some are used as blood substitutes.

Professor Patrick, who earned a doctoral degree at West Virginia University and completed post-doctoral work in organic chemistry at Ohio State University before joining SIUE in 1969, specializes in organic reactions, particularly reactions that involve fluorine chemistry.

SIU Madrigal Dinner Concert Dec. 3 & 4

Christmas in 16th Century Europe will be celebrated at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Dec. 3 and 4 with the presentation of the Madrigal Dinner concert.

The dinner concert, complete with costumes, decor, food and music of the Renaissance period, is at 7 p.m. in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center. The O'Fallon Township High School music department will present the program.

Madrigals — songs performed by small groups of singers — were most popular in England, France and Italy during the Renaissance period. Throughout the dinner, lords, ladies, pages and court jesters will entertain with songs from English, French and Italian madrigal schools. The songs are adapted to the various stages of the dinner.

The menu will include wassail bowl, spinach and mushroom salad, beef roast with crisps, whipped rutabaga and potatoes, madrigal vegetable medley, Lancashire bread, and flaming pudding with brandy sauce.

Seating is limited to 400 persons per performance. Participants are urged to make reservations early because the dinner has sold out the past three years. Cost is $11 per person.

Tickets are available by mail only. Reservations, with a check or money order, should be sent to Madrigal Dinner, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, University Center, Box 67, Edwardsville, Ill. 62095-1001. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be included to confirm reservations. The deadline for reservations is Dec. 1.

The dinner concert is sponsored by the University Center. For more information, interested persons may contact the center at 1-692-2300.

HEART BENEFIT DANCE TONIGHT

Alpha Phi, the women's fraternity at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will sponsor a benefit dance tonight at the American Legion in Edwardsville.

"April Magazine" will provide live music for the 9 p.m. event, which benefits the American Heart Association.

Tickets, including refreshments, are $5 at the door. For additional information, interested persons may contact Patty Birkey at SIUE Student Activities at 1-692-2686.

Dance to benefit March of Dimes

The annual March of Dimes Queen Coronation Dance, sponsored by the Metro East Chapter of the March of Dimes, will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight Friday at American Legion Post 189 in Edwardsville.

Among the gifts awarded to the queen and four runners-up who have raised the most money for the March of Dimes Annual Queen Contest will be small appliances, jewelry and gift certificates.

The 12 candidates in this year's contest are: Mara Beckmeyer, Lisa Coons and Tina Meisenheimer of Alton; Reva Qualls of Belleville; Glenna Brown of Cahokia; Brenda Gard of Collinsville; Teresa Vanek of Glen Carbon; Carrie Riecke of Highland; Tami Leader of

New Baden; Laura Flinn of New Douglas; Lynda Proctor of Prairie Du Rocher and Jeanie Stork of Sparta.

The retiring queen is Jane Wilson of Wood River. Presiding as king at the coronation dance will be Jason Cook of Godfrey.

The band Ghost Riders will provide entertainment. The dance is open to the public. Tickets are $1 and are available through the March of Dimes prior to the dance or at the door the night of the event.

Further information may be obtained by calling Barbara Downing at 1-288-9363 or 1-492-0888. All proceeds from the contest and dance will go to the March of Dimes.

Register Nov. 20 for East St. Louis classes

Winter quarter registration for upper division programming to be offered at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will begin Saturday.

Students may register for winter quarter courses from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in Room 3002 of the center, located in the former Broadview Hotel building, 411 East Broadway.

Winter quarter courses, offerings at the center will be drawn from the SIUE Schools of business, humanities, nursing, education and social sciences.

Courses from the SIUE School of Business will include Management Accounting Concepts and Problems (AC 341-4), Management Information Systems (MIS 381-4) and Word Processing Operations (ADS 410-4), which is being offered for the first time in East St. Louis.

Education courses to be offered at the East St. Louis Center include Pre-Kindergarten Methods (ED EL-417-4), Reading Instruction for Adult Reading Programs (ED EL 504-4) and Survey of Multi-Cultures and Education (ED FD 510-4). The last two courses are new on the winter quarter schedule.

The SIUE School of Humanities will offer Anaesthesia of Film (PHIL 345-4), an examination of film genres and theory.

The SIUE School of Social Sciences will offer Topics in History: Slavery (HIST 450-4).

The SIUE School of Nursing will offer Professional Nursing Perspectives (N 151-2) and Professional Nursing Processes, Teaching and Learning (N 312-2). The courses are part of a series of degree completion courses to be offered at the center for registered nurses seeking baccalaureate degrees.

Winter quarter registration also will be held at the Center, Nov. 29 and 30 from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Student Services Office. Students also may register for courses taught at the center during regular winter quarter registration on the Edwardsville campus. Financial aid information, advisement and textbook supply are available through the center's Student Services Office.

Winter quarter classes are scheduled to begin Monday, Jan. 3. Regular on-campus tuition and fees apply to all classes held in East St. Louis. Part-time students residing in Missouri also qualify for in-state tuition rates.

For additional information, interested persons may call 1-271-3000 extension 74 or 1-397-5650.

10 charges against three

Ten charges were processed after three persons were arrested at an auto in the 3700 block of Kirkpatrick Homes last week. The car was ordered towed away.

Charles D. Spink, 24, of 1708 Cleveland Blvd. was booked for driving while under the influence of alcohol, transporting open cans of beer and lacking a valid driving license.

Donald W. Craig, 25, of 106 Abbott St., Venice, charged with possessing beer, obtained immediate release from custody by posting his driving license.

Michael R. Crone, 18, of 2705 Roosevelt Ave. was arrested for assault and disorderly conduct, allegedly occurring a few minutes earlier at the Granite City Game Room, 2520 Nameoki Road.

Crone also was held on a 1981 petty theft attempt warrant and 1982 warrants alleging theft, property damage and disorderly conduct.

It was contended that Crone threatened a Game Room security guard who had escorted him outside after an alleged disturbance.

SCHOOL VANDALISM
A vandal sawed a Granite City High School South soccer stand and poured paint onto a soccer kickwall, it was discovered Monday.

STUDYING THE MEDIA. Eight college students from Jonkoping, Sweden, and their president visit Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to study the university's mass communications. The Swedes are spending 10 weeks in the U.S. as part of their studies for Media

Class II. Their stay has been concentrated at North Park College in Chicago, but they traveled to SIUE to visit Professor John Rider, right, who lectured at their college in Sweden several years ago. The Swedish college president is Gunnar Hallingberg, who is standing next to Professor Rider.

SO BIG. Della Seibold stresses the length of a giant sandwich offered to the public as part of the open house in Granite City which marked the 62nd year in the baking industry for Mrs. Seibold's Bake Shops. The event included a tour of the bakery at 2241 Madison Ave., and a display of Thanksgiving and Christmas baked goods.

DRINKING BLAMED IN MADISON COLLISION

Donald Delashmit, 22, State Park Place, suffered cuts and bruises last week when the front of his pickup truck hit the rear of the parked auto of Gloria Loyd, 1710 Kennedy Drive, Madison, at that address.

Following the truck after seeing it moving without lights past a stop sign at Kennedy and Greenwood Street, Madison police saw the crash and arrested Delashmit for driving while under the influence of alcohol, careless driving and driving without lights.

Probation in Madison case

Associate Judge Edward Ferguson has placed Ronnie Baker, 26, of 123 Roosevelt Drive, Madison, on one year of probation and has ordered restitution of an unspecified amount.

The sentence is based on a Feb. 22 burglary at a Madison residence.

THEY MAKE MORE MONEY THAN HALF THE PEOPLE ON EARTH..

But they don't make anything until you pay them!

IF YOUR PAYDAY IS FRIDAY AND YOUR BOSS SAYS, "COME BACK ON WEDNESDAY,"

HOW WOULD YOU FEEL?

Carriers don't make anything until they collect from enough customers to pay their bill for the papers they've received. You are the one who pays them. As independent merchants they buy their papers from us wholesale and make their profit by selling to you at retail. If you're late with your payment, your carrier must dig into his or her pocket to pay for your papers. Keep them in business, and they'll keep you in papers.

Remember, your newspaper carrier likes that secure, payday feeling as well as you do. Paying him or her promptly means prompt delivery.

4-H plans Yule party

The 80's 4-H Club conducted the November meeting at leader Arla Ault's home after the club toured Colonial Bakery, the largest bakery in the world.

President Catherine Dimitroff opened the meeting and pledges were led by Jennifer Baker, and Maria Ault. Secretary Becky Whitehead asked members to answer roll call with what they dressed as for Halloween.

Nancy Dimitroff then gave a short demonstration on food and nutrition.

Mrs. Ault thanked all the club members who participated in collecting money for Cystic Fibrosis. She also thanked Halloween party committees for making the party a success.

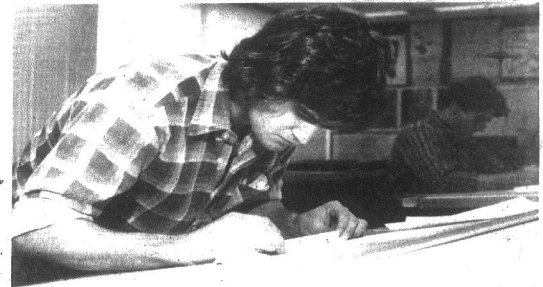

Ideas for the Christmas party were discussed and a Dec. 11 date was tentatively set. Amy Johnsey was elected chairman for the party.

The volunteer refreshment committee includes Marta Ault, Beth Brinkhoff and Tracy Feigenbutz. Jennifer Baker and Trisha Brinkhoff will form the recreation committee.

Project forms were filled out and members were asked to volunteer for talks and demonstrations for the December meeting. Others club members attending the workshop-meeting were Willy Dimitroff, Christina Heck and Marla Hill.

Guests attending the workshop were Mrs. Karen Nelson, Tracy Nelson, Alisa Nelson, Elizabeth Stark, Mrs. Joan Stark, Maynard Stark, Angela Stark, Mrs. Eleanor Dillon and Mrs. Eleanor Cell.

The December meeting, which was scheduled for Dec. 9, has been rescheduled for the first Thursday in December.

'Illinois connection' for Reelfoot and other fish sold illegally

Nearly 200 conservation officers served warrants to or arrested more than 100 persons in five states last week as part of a major crackdown on the illegal taking and selling of fish and game.

An 18-month multi-agency undercover investigation centered on commercial fishermen illegally taking and transporting fish from Lakes Michigan and Superior, and selling them to wholesale fish markets in Chicago. Among the persons charged was John Alring, 31, operator of the Bluff City Fish Market in Alton. He was charged with two counts of obstructing justice.

Involved in the investigation were special agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and officers from state conservation and natural resource departments in Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Tennessee. Although the investigation extended to Ohio, no defendants have been named there.

Subjects of the investigation were apprehended at 25 or more locations in Illinois, 25 sites in Wisconsin, three in Indiana and three in Tennessee. Search warrants have been sought for five locations in Michigan.

Some defendants face multiple charges from several states as well as the Fish and Wildlife Service, and some will be charged in several jurisdictions.

Many of those apprehended will be charged with felony violations of the federal government's Lacey Act, which prohibits interstate commerce of illegally taken game or fish. The Act provides for fines up to $20,000 and/or five years in prison.

The investigation began in early 1981, when fish and game officials learned that large numbers of lake trout, brown trout, rainbow trout, salmon, whitefish and walleye were moving from four surrounding states into the Chicago area.

The illegal taking of fish from the Great Lakes is highly disconcerting to natural resources agencies and the sport fishing fraternity.

The lakes once produced abundant populations, but due to excessive harvesting, sea lamprey infestation and other factors, the fish practically disappeared in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

Since then, the surrounding states and the Fish and Wildlife Service have conducted extensive and costly lake trout and salmon stocking programs, regulated harvest, and kept close watch on the population to maintain a recreational fishery.

Lake trout, brown trout, rainbow trout and salmon are either illegal to take commercially with nets, or may only be taken with nets during a restricted season carefully controlled by quotas and a tagging system to insure limited catches.

However, the alleged violators took the fish in closed season or circumvented the quota system by falsifying catches and records. Some violated regulations by re-using tags.

Certain markets allegedly accept such fish due to high potential profit, even though they are known to have been taken illegally.

Trout and salmon are a delicacy to many, and year-round demand from the public is heavy. When they are in short supply during the closed season, the price rises, and taking and selling them illegally becomes lucrative, a spokesman said.

As the investigation proceeded, it became apparent there was a second lucrative market for the sale of illegally taken fresh water game fish and certain game animals.

Retail meat and fish markets and small grocery stores primarily on the south side of Chicago were offering species of game fish such as black bass, crappie and bluegill, and wild game such as deer, cottontail rabbits and squirrels for sale as food to the public.

The animals usually are obtained illegally from poachers in several states and were bringing prices as high as $5 per pound for wild game, and $3 to $4 per pound for game fish.

Species that were being taken illegally and sold illegally are protected by law against commercial use and are designated for the use of citizens for recreational and personal use.

A covert fish marketing operation conducted by state and federal officers was a key factor in the investigation. State and federal officers purchased 120,000 pounds of fish, of which more than half were illegal protected species, or fish taken in violation of tagging requirements.

More than 90 percent of the fish were illegal because of false records, false receipts, improper marking, or other violations. In addition, other illegal game fish and game animals valued at $20,000 were also bought and sold.

The spokesman said the investigation has pointed to a nationwide network of people who deal in illegal fish. Much of the commerce is carried on interstate.

Various individuals and companies aid and abet each other by the trading of false documents that purport to legalize various shipments. This sometimes is done by furnishing catch records from an area where fishing is legal for certain fish, and then using those records to cover fish actually taken from an illegal area or water.

A second method is to falsify labels or sales records to indicate that a shipment is a legal species of fish, such as perch, when in fact the boxes actually contain illegal lake trout.

A third method is to place quota tags on a shipment of legal fish, but not lock the seals. These tags are then removed once the fish have reached their destination and the tags sent back by markets to the fishermen to be reused over and over again. In this manner, the allowed quota can be grossly exceeded for any particular area of water or fisherman, it was noted.

Authorities cite Reelfoot Lake in Tennessee as a prime example. Reelfoot is about the only place in the nation where crappie are legally netted commercially and then sold. This is allowed from Oct 1 through March 31 each year.

Some Midwestern fish dealers allegedly take advantage of this loophole. Crappie are illegally taken throughout the Midwest and either the fisherman or the markets obtain false invoices from the Reelfoot area, covering the illegal fish as Reelfoot crappie.

Agents working in this investigation were given a pad of blank forms by a defendant in the Reelfoot area, on which they could simply fill in whatever amount of fish they wanted to cover.

Authorities in another state, if shown the form, would have no way of knowing the signature on the form was fraudulent.

The state of Tennessee and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have cited several fishermen in the Reelfoot and Kentucky Lake areas for illegal taking and sale of crappie outside the open season and for sale of prime crappie taken illegally from Kentucky Lake and sold under the guise of Reelfoot Lake fish.

These violations were uncovered as part of the Chicago investigation. Illegal fish from Tennessee, especially crappie and bluegill, are frequently shipped to Chicago.

SIUE offers awards

The Graduate School at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced it is seeking applicants for a number of graduate awards available for students of high academic quality.

According to Floyd Coleman, associate dean, the awards include tax-free stipends of $3,600 for the nine-month 1983-84 academic year, as well as the remission of tuition and some fees.

Two types of awards are available on a competitive basis to degree seeking graduate students with an overall 4.3 or better undergraduate average on a 5.0 scale and to graduate

NEED PERFORMERS FOR ANNUAL CRAFT SHOW

Clown, musicians and other area performers are needed to create a festive atmosphere at this year's Christmas Arts and Crafts Fair from Nov. 30 to Dec. 2, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Ann McKinnon, director of the University's Craft and Graphics Shop, said all performers should apply at the Craft and Graphics Shop in the University Center before Nov. 24.

Performers and craft exhibitors at the fair will be listed in a printed catalog from which they may be contacted in the future. For additional information, interested performers may contact Ann McKinnon at 1-692-2178.

students who demonstrate financial need and academic promise.

The intent of the former type of awards is to recognize and encourage those students who have shown outstanding potential as revealed through past academic records, letters of recommendation, and other evidences of outstanding achievement.

For the second type of award, special consideration will be given to applicants with minority status and to residents of the Metro-East area.

Students in off-campus program, unclassified students and students with international visas are not eligible. Recipients must be fully admitted as a classified graduate student to a specific degree program.

In addition to the application, applicants are responsible for having three letters of recommendation sent directly to the Graduate School. Applicants who wish to demonstrate financial need must also have an ACT-Family Financial Statement on file with the University by Feb. 1.

Application forms are available in the Graduate School Office located in Room 2215 of the Rendleman Building. Deadline for application is Feb. 15, 1983.
